

Rawdon Municipal Council Given An Acclamation For Coming Year

Two Minutes' Silence Is Observed In Memory of Former Township Officials

There will be no election in Rawdon Township to choose the Municipal Council for 1958. On Monday afternoon at a nomination meeting held in the Township Hall, Harold, Reeves, James Spry, Deputy-Reeve Kenneth Mumby and Councillors Frederick Beckett, Burton Morton and Ronald Brown were returned to office by acclamation.

W. J. Barlow, Township Clerk, accepted nominations for the various offices between one and two o'clock, as follows:

Reeve — James Spry (acclamation)
Deputy-Reeve — Kenneth Mumby, Frederick Beckett.

Councillors — Ronald Brown, Frederick Beckett, Carman Cadden, Burton Morton, Percy Reid, John B. Hagerman and Earl McAdam.

Two Minutes' Silence Observed

At the close of nominations Clerk W. J. Barlow acted as chairman for the meeting and two minutes' silence were observed in memory of Thos. H. Prest, former Road Supt.; Geo. E. Thompson, former Reeve and Warden of Hastings County, and Ewart Bailey, former Township Treasurer, all of whom passed away during 1957.

Reeve Jas. Spry gave a comprehensive report on the work of County Council as it affected Rawdon Township. There were 144 children under control of the Children's Aid Society, 118 in Belleville, at an estimated cost of $69,000, stated Reeve Spry. Receipts amounted to $2600 and the pre-ventative worker received a salary of $5000.

Referring to the County House, Reeve Spry stated there were 212 inmates, 47 from Belleville. The annual payment of $40,000 had been made the Belleville Hospital with one more payment to make.

An amount of $326,000 had been spent on County roads, $20,000 going to the Suburban Roads Commission. Close to half of the expenditure was made on construction, the major share being on the Madoc-Foxboro road.

The Ridge Road had been taken over as a development road by the Dept. of Highways and a start had been made on the work, which eventually would run into an estimated expenditure of $150,000, stated Reeve Spry.

Reeve Spry also reported on the purchase of the new Township grader at a cost of $24,000. A trade-in allowance of $6,000 was obtained on the old grader, leaving a balance of $18,000, half of which was paid out of 1957 revenue.

Referring to the fact that there had been two assessment bills in 1957 Reeve Spry stated the Township's actual assessment was $39,000 lower than the County equalized assessment and the second assessment was made to alter this situation. A 3% increase in the reassessment raised between $48,900 and $49,000 and it was hoped that the County would agree to adjust the equalized assessment accordingly.

Deputy-Reeve K. Mumby

Kenneth Mumby, Deputy-Reeve, spoke briefly on the Township assessment and the tree-cutting bylaw passed by the County. He also reported on his work on the County Agricultural Committee. In this connection he stated weed spraying had been carried out on 446 miles of County road at a cost of $7.28 per mile.

In closing he advocated an increase in the Township rate for custom work by the Township bulldozer.

Councillors Give Reports

Councillor F. Beckett gave a full report on expenditures on the Township roads including construction, snow ploughing, sanding, brushing and weed spraying. He also reported a $3300 profit by the Township on all types of custom work.

Councillor Burton Morton listed the points where work had been done on the Township roads. He also reported on the Township machinery in detail and outlined the action taken to have a warning signal erected at the Anson railway crossing on the Campbellford road. This installation would cost $6,000 to be borne by the

Harris — Coombes Nuptials At St. John's Church

St. John's Anglican Church, Stirling, was the scene of a pretty Yuletide wedding when Enid Marilyn Coombes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Coombes, of River Valley, became the bride of Mr. George Everett Harris, son of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Harris, of Goderich. Rev. H. C. Secker, of Kingston, formerly of Stirling, officiated.

Delightful wedding music was provided by Mrs. Harry Morrow at the Hammond organ. A junior trio, Misses Gail, Linda Anne and Margaret Morrow rendered "Where'er You Walk" and "O Perfect Love."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride, carrying a white prayer book with gardenias and stephanotis, wore a gown of petal white rosepoint lace and net over satin. The fitted bodice was fashioned with long sleeves ending in lily points and the bouffant net skirt was appliqued with points of lace. Her double fingertip veil of bridal net was held by a bandeau of mother of pearls.

The maid of honour, Miss Mavis Coombes, wore a waltz-length dress of azure blue crystal charm and carried a bouquet of pink carnations. Miss Veva Coombes in matching dress of twilight blue with bouquet of pink carnations was bridesmaid.

The best man was Mr. Bruno Lapaine, while Mr. Bert Alexander and Mr. Martin Secker acted as ushers.

The reception line in the Parish Hall included the bride's mother attired in navy with corsage of red carnations and the bridegroom's mother in teal blue brocade with pink corsage.

During the luncheon, which was in charge of St. John's Ladies' League, telegrams of congratulations and good wishes were received from the groom's grandfather and grandmother Harris, of Goderich; his grandmother MacDonald, Len and family, of Lucknow, and Mr. A. Leighton, of Toronto.

For travelling to Brockville and points east, the bride chose a dress of turquoise wool with grey skirt and jacket and corsage of red roses. On their return they will reside at Knob Hill, Scarborough, as both are teachers on the Scarborough staff.

County, C.N.R. and Dept. of Transport. The cost of maintenance would be borne by the County and C.N.R.

M.O.H. Heard

Dr. E. A. Carleton, M.O.H. for the past 23 years, stated that with few exceptions there isn't a child in the Township who hasn't been vaccinated against polio. All children have also received their booster dose against diphtheria. The reports on water at the various Township schools were not as good as last year, stated Dr. Carleton. He also drew the attention of the ratepayers to the need for fire exits in the Township schools.

The meeting was brought to a close by the National Anthem.

Hoard's Station Scene of Store, Garage Blaze

Loss expected to run more than $15,000 resulted Friday evening when the garage, general store and living quarters of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Brown, of Hoard's Station, six miles west of here, was totally destroyed by fire.

Mrs. Brown and her four small children escaped unharmed from the upstairs living quarters over the garage. Cause of the blaze was not determined although reports indicated that the fire originated in the walls of the living quarters.

Fire pumps from Seymour Township and also from Campbellford were used in an unsuccessful effort to confine the blaze which spread quickly throughout the frame structure. No cars were lost in the blaze.

The fire was discovered shortly before six o'clock and a call was sent for the Seymour Township fire truck. The one fire fighting crew was unable to confine the blaze and at seven o'clock the Campbellford fire department was called to the scene.

The blaze was a spectacular one sending flames rolling high into the night air and attracted a large crowd to the scene. The loss was partially covered by insurance.

4-H Club Members Visit Parliament Buildings In Ottawa

A very interesting and educational trip to Ottawa was arranged by the Hastings and Prince Edward County Branches of the Ontario Department of Agriculture for various 4-H agricultural and homemaking club members throughout the two Counties on Thursday, December 12th. A large part of the day was spent at the Parliament Buildings in Ottawa but the boys and girls did get the opportunity to tour through the Mint as well. Both features proved to be of utmost interest.

est to the 4-H club members but the tour through the Parliament Buildings seemed to highlight the entire day.

This trip to Ottawa has been an annual affair for a number of years now and is certainly something the 4-H club members strive to achieve. It is awarded to the member of each agricultural club who receives the highest number of points on his or her year's work, and also to the girl who has completed six or more projects in the 4-H Homemaking clubs. Previous winners are not eligible to take this trip a second time which gives a different group of boys and girls the opportunity to see through the Parliament Buildings each year.

The trip this year has not been exceeded by any other of its kind since it was first initiated, for Lee Grills, M.P. for South Hastings and Clarence Milligan, M.P. for Prince Edward and Lennox, acted as hosts to the winners throughout the entire day. They put on a very excellent dinner for the 4-H club members and took them on a tour through the Parliament Buildings, showing them the various sights and answering the many numerous questions that were directed at them.

When the buses arrived at the Parliament Buildings the 4-H club members were welcomed by Lee Grills and Clarence Milligan, after which they were invited to sit in the gallery of the House of Commons to watch the proceedings of the Session until dinner was prepared. During the noon hour Mr. Grills and Mr. Milligan explained to the girls and boys different matters pertaining to the functions of the government and answered any questions that they cared to ask. After dinner the 4-H group met in the cabinet chamber where they were addressed by the Prime Minister of Canada, Mr. Diefenbaker; the former Prime Minister, Mr. St. Laurent; the Minister of Agriculture, Mr. Harkness, and the Minister of Transport, Mr. Hees. This in itself was an awe-inspiring half hour for the 4-H club members, for never before had they visualized they would ever get the opportunity to speak to and to be spoken to directly by the various cabinet ministers and particularly the Prime Minister of Canada.

The trip through the Mint proved to be of much interest to the 4-H group even though their pocket books were as empty when they came out as when they entered. However, they did see how some of the Canadian currency is made and learned how it is put into circulation after it is made.

Following the trip to the Mint the boys and girls returned to the Parliament Buildings and were taken on a tour of the Buildings by Mr. Grills and Mr. Milligan. The tour ended in the Cabinet Chamber where one of the 4-H club members expressed the appreciation on behalf of the whole group to Lee and Clarence for the time they had spent in making the trip to Ottawa as interesting and educational as possible. The 4-H club members then returned home tired but better citizens because they had learned something of how the laws are made and how their country is actually run.

ON THE PIGGYBACK TRAIL

Canadian transportation's recent marriage of rail and highway finds the Canadian Pacific Railway operating solid piggyback trains in both directions between Montreal and Toronto, carrying the trailers of a number of well-known trucking firms to and from their destinations in Canada's two largest cities. Fast over-night service permits pick-up of trailers after close of business every evening and guarantees their delivery in the other city before the start of next day's business. Popularity of the service is attested by this view of a Canadian Pacific "piggybacker" at Christie Lake, Ontario. Specially-designed roller-bearing flatcars carry the trailers. Piggyback trains are diesel-hauled. —Canadian Pacific Photo.

Mount Pleasant

My Christmas Guest

A shout of joy from the waiting crowd
As the Christmas train pulls in,
They are meeting the friends of long ago

I know by the merry din.
Dad calls to his lass who has been away

For most a year or more
And the long-lost brother seeks his own

From the crowd by the station door.

Then the hissing, steaming, puffing train

Goes forth in the frosty air
To carry more friends to the waiting homes

And gladden the Christmas there.

But not a loved one, in all that throng
Comes tonight to clasp my hand

For duty calls them, where carols sweet

Ring forth from the travelling band.

Oh, what will you do? My friends now ask.

Must you spend this Christmas alone?
With no guests to brighten the holiday,

No dear ones you call your own.

Oh, glad we would be if round festive board

Could have gathered our loved ones
dear,

But a train on a track no eye can see,
Brought a guest for the Christmas cheer.

When dawn broke over the waiting world,

And out shone the frosted sun,
I was not alone and my heart bells rang,

With the joy that a King had come.
For at table mine,—an unseen Guest,
The Christ of the Christmas day

And the peace of the manger so long ago,

Where the Babe in Bethlehem lay.
—Margaret I. Moore

Christmas has come and gone but the message of this poem still lives on. Mrs. F. E. Hutchinson has the original copy which was written by her sister the late Mrs. Alex Moore, of Dellor, the former Margaret I. McMullen, of Anson.

OF MANY THINGS

(By Ambrose Hills)

EGGS AGAIN

When this column criticized the proposed compulsory egg marketing board recently, Alberta weekly newspaper editors began to receive letters from champions of the scheme, hinting that I am either one of Mr. Manning's minions, or that I am hand-in-glove with the packers in wanting to skin profits from the labour of producers.

I cannot say how editors will respond to such letters, but for my part I feel that it serves to show how weak the arguments of these people must be. If their scheme has real merit, why don't they argue its merits instead of making personal attacks on those who disagree?

The Alberta Egg Plebiscite is news. It is legitimate material for any columnist, particularly at a time when in Ontario the farmers are putting up a vigorous fight to get rid of a compulsory hog marketing board which was foisted on them three or four years ago with just such flimsy arguments as certain farm organizers are using to support compulsion in marketing eggs.

I read that Mr. Harper, secretary of the Co-Operative Union of Alberta, has (according to press reports) stated "that the Egg Marketing Board would have no power to limit or control the production limit of eggs. All surplus profits would be used to the benefit of the producers and all surplus eggs used to create a new outlet on the world market."

Does Mr. Harper honestly believe this? When have surpluses ever helped to do anything else but depress prices? And when have such compulsory Boards ever used "surplus profits" for any other purpose than to issue propaganda taking credit for price increases or dodging responsibility for price drops? If compulsory marketing boards are such a whopping success, why not give a realistic picture of their successes?

Theodore Parker, of Stratford, Ont., wrote to the editor of the Edmonton Journal to say, "I with thousands of farmers in the Province of Ontario have been fighting to do away with a compulsory hog marketing scheme that was imposed on the producers more than four years ago. At the present time we are getting petitions signed to do away with this vile legislation. Our Minister of Agriculture released a statement to the press recently which says that 'a constant stream of critical correspondence is being received by this department.' I would like to warn the egg producers of the Province of Alberta to think very seriously before voting such legislation into effect. Compulsory legislation is restraint of trade and is cold-blooded state control; you have ONE market, and only one."

Some farm leaders who take the attitude that fellow-farmers can only be led into the light by compulsion are due for a lesson one of these days. Not from the packers or government — but from the rank-and-file farmers who are fed up with hearing them rant about monopolies, cartels and combines on the one hand while trying to create those very things to be operated by themselves.

NEWS FOR THE BUSY FARMER

FUTURE HOG MARKETINGS

For some years the statisticians of the Marketing Service Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, have attempted to forecast the probable future hog slaughter at inspected and approved plants throughout Canada. The method used involves adjustment of the basic figures on breedings and farrowings as published by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics by the application for each province of certain mathematical factors which appear to be appropriate according to past performance over a period of years.

Looking to 1958, the estimated hog marketings for the first three months are placed at 1,680,000 for all Canada, an increase of 16 per cent over the actual marketings for the same three months of 1957 of 1,445,566. The estimated increase for eastern Canada will be 12 per cent and for western Canada 22 per cent.

The forecast of hog marketings for the first six months of 1958 shows much the same pattern as for the three-month period, with the percentage changes remaining the same. For all Canada they are placed at 2,876,000 as against actual marketings in 1957 of 2,483,956. The marketings for eastern Canada are placed at 1,630,000 against 1,458,039 in 1957 and for western Canada 1,246,000 against 1,025,917. All provinces will show increased marketings except British Columbia which will be about the same as in 1957.

CHECK DOGS FOR RABIES

Hunters are cautioned to check their dogs for signs of rabies since the disease has been diagnosed in a dog and a fox in the Parry Sound District. It is believed possible that hunting dogs might have been exposed to the disease by contact with wild animals.

Hunters are requested to observe their dogs for some time and, if a dog develops symptoms not familiar to the owner, refer the case to the nearest veterinary officer of the Canadian Department of Agriculture.

It is requested also that if, while hunting, wild animals are encountered in a manner which might suggest the presence of rabies, notification by mail be made to the District Veterinarian, 386 Keele St., Toronto 9, Ont.

BIRDSFOOT TREFOIL IN SIMPLE PASTURE MIXTURES

Birdsfoot trefoil has shown considerable promise in tests of simple pasture mixtures over a three year period at the Central Experimental Farm in Ottawa. L. P. Folkins of the Forage Crops Division says these mixtures were only outyielded by other mixtures containing alfalfa in the first two years. In the third year, trefoil mixtures compared favourably even with those containing alfalfa.

Though somewhat slow to establish even when the seed is inoculated, birdsfoot trefoil is persistent once it becomes established. It will stand fairly close grazing and is not seriously affected by trampling. This legume will do best under good soil and moisture conditions and is slightly more tolerant to moist locations than alfalfa or ladino clover. It will also do better than Ladino clover under droughty conditions. Since it has not been known to cause bloat, it is a good pasture legume.

Birdsfoot trefoil cannot withstand too much competition so should be seeded only in simple mixtures. The best stands and generally the best yields of trefoil are obtained when it is grown in association with timothy and other grasses which are not too aggressive. However, it will persist and yield quite well once it is established with some of the more competitive grasses such as brome, and the pasture will contain a good grass-legume balance.

Empire birdsfoot trefoil is slower to become established than the variety Viking, and thus yields lower in the first harvest year. However, the stand will improve as shown in tests at Ottawa where Empire surpassed Viking in the third year.

Agricultural Outlook For Canada, 1958

The following is a brief summary of the agricultural outlook for Canada prepared by the Economics, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, in co-operation with other Government Departments.

Agricultural Trade Situation

World food production in 1957-58 is expected to increase over the previous year. A near record bread-grain production is forecast estimated at 267 million short tons, slightly below the record 1956-57 crop of 271 million tons.

World production and trade in dairy products, which in 1957 is expected to reach the highest level recorded during the postwar years, is likely to increase further in 1958.

Supplies on world meat markets are expected to rise in 1958 with a substantial increase in hog production. Beef production is also likely to increase in various exporting countries although the rate of growth will be smaller than in the previous year.

In view of the probable high level of economic activity in the leading industrial areas of the world, prospects for sale abroad of Canadian agricultural products in excess of domestic requirements would appear to be generally favourable in 1958. But Canada's share of the market for bread-grains and other cereals in deficiency areas will depend upon demand and will be materially affected by United States sales programmes undertaken for these cereals.

On the other hand, the marketing outlook for the exports of livestock and other Canadian agricultural products should be relatively favourable in 1958.

Economic Outlook For Canada

Economic activity in 1958 will depend to a considerable extent on the level of capital investment. Since precedence was given to investment for resource development over the past few years, much work remains to be done on highways, schools and all forms of municipal improvements. Despite reduced activity in some industries, total personal income continued to increase and allowed Canadians to increase their volume of consumption. It is probable that consumer demand will continue as a sustaining force in the economy during 1958.

Farm Labour

The large increase in the labour force during the early part of 1957 and the weaknesses that have developed in certain industries indicate that the general supply of farm labour will continue to be higher than last year.

Grains and Feeds

World production of wheat for the 1957-58 crop year, estimated at 7.6 billion bushels, is somewhat below last year's record of 7.8 billion bushels, but well above the 1950-54 average of 7.0 billion bushels.

Total supplies of Canadian feed grains in 1957-58 are estimated at 22.2 million tons, about five per cent below last year.

Overall fodder supplies are much below those of last year, with marked variation in supplies between regions. Crops are larger than last year only in Ontario and British Columbia. Hay supplies are much below average in the Maritimes and shortages may develop in some areas. In the Prairies the margin of reserve is small.

Livestock

Output of livestock from Canadian farms in 1958 is expected to be greater than in 1957 by about 8 per cent and may break the all-time record set in 1944. Production in the United States is expected to show no increase while the demand for meat in the United States is likely to increase at least as fast as population. Increased imports of livestock and meat into the United States are not likely to satisfy this deficit and the general price level of these commodities in the United States is expected to rise above 1957 levels. This points to increased competition from U.S. buyers on the Canadian livestock and meat market.

Cattle production in Canada is expected to set a new record but an increase in export demand, owing to a downswing in U.S. production, is expected to result in an increase in cattle prices. Hog prices, however, are expected to be well below those of 1957 in response to an increase of about 10 per cent in marketings. Production of calves, sheep and lambs, and wool will likely show little change.

Dairy Products

Milk production in 1958 is expected to total 17.5 billion pounds, slightly more than in 1957. Since the dairy herd in 1958 may be about the same size as in 1957, this production will be achieved through a slightly higher level of output per cow, reflecting better and more intensive feeding practices.

It is likely that there will be increases in the utilization of milk for fluid use, ice cream and butter. Cheese production is expected to decline by one-quarter and the output of the major concentrated milk products by lesser amounts.

Eggs and Poultry

Egg production in 1958 is not expected to differ greatly from the 1957 level and egg prices are not likely to average any higher than in 1957.

It is expected that marketings of all kinds of poultry meat in 1958 will exceed the 1957 level. Prices in Canada will probably change little from the past year.

Fruits and Vegetables

The 1957 apple crop of 13.5 million bushels was 9 per cent above the 1956 crop but one per cent below the 1950-54 average. The outlook for exports from this crop is favourable with total exports expected to exceed two million bushels.

Production of strawberries and raspberries is expected to increase in 1958. Potato imports are expected to be lower because prices in the United States have exceeded those in Canada. During 1958 the growth of the frozen fruit and vegetable industry is expected to continue.

Seeds

The situation in respect to forage seeds indicates larger world supplies with resulting lower prices. From the standpoint of the seed growers in Canada, market prospects at attractive prices are not good. On the other hand, Canadian farmers should be able to purchase their seed requirements in 1958 at prices well under those prevailing in 1957.

The market in the United States is quite strong for registered and certified wheat and oats and it is expected that surplus quantities will move readily.

JUNIOR MAGAZINE

John Clark is host and Roberta Maxwell is hostess on "Junior Magazine," the popular children's show which is seen on the CBC-TV connected network every week. Clark is starting his third season with the show, while Miss Maxwell, who was the first apprentice at the Stratford, Ontario, festival this year, will be making her debut.

Rainie -- Maxwell Nuptials

White chrysanthemums and potted ferns adorned the altar and sanctuary of Grace Chapel, Stirling, November 23rd at high noon, when Sharon May Maxwell, of Stirling, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Maxwell, became the bride of James Haywood Rainie, of Harold, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Rainie. Mr. W. E. Belch, Bethel Hall, Belleville, officiated. The guest pews were designated by white satin bows.

The wedding music was rendered by Mrs. Kenneth Broadworth, of Stirling.

The lovely bride, given in marriage by her father, Mr. Russell Maxwell, wore a charming bridal gown of applique lace over slipper satin with pleated tulle fashioned in floor-length and featuring a fitted bodice with "v" shaped neckline and long, sheath-like sleeves lily-pointed over the wrists. Her finger-tip veil was held by a matching half-pillbox style headdress dotted with seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of red Sweetheart roses and white carnations. A single strand of pearls and matching earrings completed her costume.

Miss Madeline Anderson, Marmora, was maid of honor wearing copper crystal; Miss Joyce Reed, Stirling, as bridesmaid, and Miss Beverly Maxwell, junior bridesmaid, sister of the bride, were gowned alike in aqua crystal. The gowns of all three attendants were designed identically with fitted bodices and full skirts. The necklines were "v" pointed at the backs and fronts with complementing bows at the back. They wore feather bandeaux headresses, pleated gauntlets in matching colours and carried nosegays of pink and white 'mums.

Little Miss Betty Ann Maxwell, cousin of the bride, was a sweet flower girl, in her ankle-length frock of yellow taffeta with matching head-dress and carrying a basket of white and yellow 'mums.

Mr. Lorne Maxwell, Stirling, brother of the bride, attended the bridegroom, while Mr. William Campbell, Belleville, cousin of the bridegroom, and Mr. Reggie Maxwell, of Stirling, cousin of the bride, ushered the guests.

The reception was held in the Odd Fellows Hall, Stirling, where the bride's mother received wearing blue lace with matching accessories and corsage of pink feathered carnations. She was assisted by the bridegroom's mother who wore a gown of beige-shade embroidered taffeta with matching accessories and corsage of bronze 'mums.

The bride's table was appropriately appointed with white damask and centred by a three-tier wedding cake, misted about the base with white-tulle, while the bridal bouquets lent a lovely nuptial note.

For travelling to Ufca, Syracuse, Cleveland, Toledo, Ohio and other points of interest, the bride chose a costume of brown wool in sheath style with beige borg jacket, brown accessories, and corsage of yellow roses. Mr. and Mrs. Rainie are residing at Wellman's Corners.

Guests were present from Napanee, Belleville, Campbellford, Elmvale, Weston, Toronto, Ottawa, Stirling and other local points.

Previous to her marriage the bride was entertained at a miscellaneous shower at the home of Miss Joyce Reed with Miss Shirley Cooney as co-hostess; at a linen shower at the home of Mrs. Bill Scott, West Hunt- ington, and at a miscellaneous shower held at the home of Mrs. Eugene McGee, of Harold, with Mrs. Glenn Graham as co-hostess.

KNOW YOUR CANADA

ONE OF WORLD'S LARGEST AIRPORTS AT GANDER

(Prepared by the Research Staff of Encyclopedia Canadiana)

One of the world's largest airports is at Gander, Newfoundland, according to the new Encyclopedia Canadiana.

The reference work states that it was chosen as a transatlantic base by the British Air Ministry in 1935 and that the runways were ready for use by 1938.

It became an important Atlantic patrol base during the Second World War, when thousands of fighter planes, bombers and military transport aircraft passed through.

Since April 1949, when Newfoundland entered Confederation, the runways have been extended and facilities increased by the Federal Government. The airport is on the scheduled routes of most of the large international airlines.

NOBLE'S DRUGS

The Bible Today

(From C. R. Rudd)

The Bible speaks in the idiom of the people it addresses anywhere in the world. An example of this is shown in a paraphrase of the 23rd Psalm for the Navaho Indians.

"The Great Father above a Shepherd Chief, is the same as I am he is, and with him I want not."

He throws out to me a rope, and the name of the rope is love, and he draws me, and he draws me, and he draws me to where the grass is green and the water is not dangerous; and I eat and lie down satisfied.

Sometimes my heart is very weak and falls down, but he lifts it up again and draws me into a good road. His name is Wonderful.

Sometimes it may be very soon, it may be longer, it may be a long, long time, he will draw me into a place between the mountains. It is dark there, but I'll not draw back, I'll be afraid not, for it is in there, between the mountains that the Shepherd Chief will meet me, and the hunger I have felt in my heart all through this life will be satisfied. Sometimes he makes the love rope into a whip, but afterwards he gives me a staff to lean on.

He spreads a table before me with all kinds of food. He puts his hand upon my head and all the "tired" is gone. My cup he fills till it runs over.

What I tell you is true; I lie not. These roads that are "away ahead" will stay with me through this life, and afterwards I will go to live in the "Big Teepee" and sit down with the Shepherd Chief forever."

Good Habits From Good Turns

Ontario's Highway Safety Commissioner wants each of Ontario's 2,000,000 drivers young and old to adopt for 1958 a long-standing practice of the Boy Scout movement and resolve to do at least one good turn every day - a "driving good turn" that will help some other driver or pedestrian.

W. B. G. Reynolds, who has charge of safety for the Ontario Department of Transport, stresses that such a daily "driving good turn" can turn into a positive habit of driving courtesy, the only kind of habit that has a really good chance of eliminating many of Ontario's thousand-odd annual fatal accidents. At the same time it can bring Ontario the enviable reputation of being one of this continent's more pleasant places to drive a car.

The Safety Commissioner has plans afoot to keep reminding Ontario's unofficial "driver scouts" in other words all the licensed drivers, of this resolution they are all being urged to make this New Year's. "Driving Good Turns" might include such gestures as:

1. Holding back from blocking an intersection so that other drivers can enter a stopped or slowly moving line of traffic;
2. Slowing down or stopping when pedestrians need a chance to cross a street;
3. Signalling all intended turns or stops or changes of pace or direction;
4. Leaving ample space for vehicles needing to pass - in other words, going out of your way NOT to be a road hog.

When you get a chance to buy things for a song it's a good idea to check the accompaniment.

People who get ahead in the world are those who make hay whether the sun shines or not.

Ontario Growers Take Many Awards

Ontario farmers won several top awards again this year at the Grain and Hay Show held recently at Chicago, reports the Field Crops Branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

Championship awards in field peas went to Robert Joseph, of Matheson, on Chancellor variety; in field beans to Robert F. Allen, of Brucefield, with the new Sanilak variety, and William R. Beattie, of Staples, won the soy bean championship.

Reserve championships went to Roy Goltz, Falkenburg, on field peas of the Canadian Beauty variety, and to Jack McKillop, of Dutton, on Canadian yellow field beans.

John Hagarty & Son, of Alma, placed fourth in oats, second in six-rowed barley and second in timothy. Harry N. Gorsline, of Demorestville, won first in timothy and third in rye.

Robert S. Sparrow, of Kilmarnock, was second in small field peas. Archie Armour, of Dorchester, came first in mixed timothy and alfalfa hay.

Several corn prizes went to Ontario growers in region 1 with Jack Mickle, of Wallaceburg, receiving first on yellow dent variety, and in region 2, second went to Garnet Brown, Leamington, who was also regional champion.

In regions 1 and 6, for soft white spring wheat, the first three prizes went to Ottawa Valley growers - Wallace Bros. of Bells Corners; Jas. Anderson, Ramsayville, and R. S. Elliott, of Renfrew.

Harold McClure, of Brampton, won second in soft white winter wheat with James T. Needham, of Ripley, second in the same class.

In all, Ontario growers took over fifty major prizes for seeds in competition with other exhibitors from other provinces of Canada and many States of the U.S.A.

A Traveller's Note Book

If one can lay any claim to an education, it has come through travel and travail. Since there is no such thing as "French without tears," one has had one's share of that boredom and the "wet towel" which education thrusts upon those who will get what we call "an education."

The former aid, however, is full of interest and even excitement. Travel! This, together with a little imagination and observation is a great educator. But don't misunderstand me! There are many methods. I once knew a man who had never moved from his house since he was 20 years of age, but how he travelled! He had visited the world and knew most of its nooks and corners on which he could discourse confidently and well.

About life he was particularly interesting, for him it was a journey. He had a good idea as to where he was heading and so he was concerned with the road he travelled. A remark of his puts me on the trail this morning. "Life," said he, "is a journey, the only thing about it is that we are handicapped in that we face it without experience."

I have often thought of that, there is truth in it so far as one's earlier years are concerned, but later we can say, "Experience is like a lantern lighted and set in the stern of the boat in which we travel. It illuminates the path we leave behind."

An earlier writer holds that life is like a story — "We spend our years as a tale that is told." If so, it's a serial story. We have to wait for the instalments; there is no complete copy in existence so that you can't take a peek at the last chapter. Probably the reason why an Eastern thinker once said: "Call no man happy until he is dead."

Either of these figures of speech should bring brightness to our years. If life is a journey, then it leads somewhere. And if it is a story it is interesting. An interesting journey then. As the milestones of the years slip by, we should have our eye on the end of the journey, enjoying every yard of it, yet remembering that there is an end to the road along which we travel. So may we arrive, the better for experience, looking back and saying — "They were happy years."

LOOKING FORWARD should be inspiring for the youth of today who will have more intimate acquaintance

STIRLING CENTENNIAL, AUG. 3rd to 6th, 1958

DO YOU KNOW THAT . . .

Stirling at one time had a very famous elm tree? It stood in the centre of the Village, on the south side of Rawdon Creek between the two present bridges. Its magnificent branches stretched all the way across the creek and it is with a great sense of pride that some of our former citizens boast of being born beneath its branches. It was from this vantage point that the Honourable Arthur Meighen delivered his first speech as Premier of Canada in 1920. Such are some interesting facts as unearthed by the Stirling Horticultural Society from their early records.

Also worthy of note is the knowledge that this Society has been active for well over half a century, being organized in 1897. Many improvements which have enhanced our Village can be attributed to the efforts of its fine membership.

Stirling Centennial Committee Busy on Plans for August Celebration

Many Signify Intention of Coming Home For Event — Next Meeting January 20th

Stirling's Centennial Celebration slated for next August will be a resounding success if plans now being made by the Chamber of Commerce bear fruit.

Secretary Doug Patterson reported to a Chamber directors meeting on Monday last that almost one thousand invitations have already been mailed to former residents. The Secretary also reported that to date he had received several replies indicating that many former residents are planning to return to the home town for the Centennial.

Many Planning To Be Here

Some persons who have already indicated their intention to attend are: Mr. K. R. Mather, Peterboro; Mr. J. M. Hawkins, Toronto; Mrs. John Honeycutt, Seattle; Mr. Gerald Craven, Ridgeway; Mr. J. M. McGee, Toronto; Mrs. H. Foley, Toronto; Mr. W. Carr, Detroit, Mich.; Mrs. Helena Neal, of Detroit, Mich.; Mrs. A. B. Morgan, Belle River, Ont.; Mr. Elmer Ray, Toronto, plus many others too numerous to mention at this time.

The Chamber Directors heard several reports regarding the programme arrangements. Present indications point to the attendance of several bands and musical organizations. Arrangements are also being attempted to obtain a merry-go-round for the enjoyment of the children.

Committee On Accommodations

The Directors are also taking steps to set up a committee to look after accommodations for Centennial visitors. Several enquiries have already been received regarding such accommodation. Persons desirous of providing accommodation for Centennial visitors will soon be given the opportunity of registering their available services with a committee.

Mr. Duncan Montgomery reported that work on the Centennial Book has progressed most favourably. The Centennial Book is expected to go to press about January 30th. Orders for Centennial Books are now being received by Secretary Doug Patterson.

The next meeting of the Centennial Committee will be held at 7.30 p.m. on Monday, January 20th in the Council rooms. The committee has now reached the stage where much additional help is needed. All citizens of Stirling and area who are interested in doing their part in making our Centennial a success are cordially invited to attend the meeting on Monday, January 20th.

Enthusiastic Meeting of St. Paul's W.A. Augurs Well For Coming Year

The first New Year meeting of St. Paul's Woman's Association was well attended with the entire programme in charge of the executive members.

Mrs. R. A. Patterson opened the meeting with the theme hymn and prayers. Mrs. Harold West acted as pianist.

The installation of officers for the year 1958 was conducted by Mrs. Arthur Packman in her usual pleasing and efficient manner. Mrs. Packman then welcomed Mrs. Patterson again as President, with many kind words of appreciation and encouragement to all on the new executive.

The slate of officers is as follows: Hon. Pres., Mrs. A. Packman; Past Pres., Mrs. Percy Utman; President, Mrs. R. A. Patterson; 1st Vice-Pres., Mrs. W. Wilkins; 2nd Vice-Pres., Mrs. Maurice Bell; 3rd Vice-Pres., Mrs. Ashley Brooks; Secretary, Mrs. Leslie Thompson; Treasurer, Mrs. Harold Wells; Good Will Secretary, Mrs. L. Wilson; Pianist, Mrs. Harold West; Assistant Pianist, Mrs. H. David; Flower Convener, Mrs. A. Fraser.

Mrs. Patterson presided for the business part of the meeting. In the absence of Mrs. L. Thompson, acting secretary for the day was Mrs. Earl Eggleton.

The Treasurer, Mrs. Harold Wells, presented a splendid Annual Report showing a bank balance of $365.05, with an amount in the Parsonage account of $183.44. Miss D. Caldwell, reporting the Treasurer's books as audited and found correct, complimented Mrs. Wells on her efficiency.

Mrs. G. Bradshaw gave a report of the work done at the parsonage. The Parsonage committee for 1958 is as follows: Mrs. E. Warren, convener; Mrs. H. Pitcher and Mrs. Ashley Brooks.

The date and plans for a visit to the Home for the Aged was left in charge of Mrs. C. Macklin and Mrs. Harold West. Forty-five calls were reported made in December.

Many letters and telephone calls were received expressing appreciation of White gifts received and letters of sympathy and get-well cards sent out.

For the Congregational Meeting on January 22nd, a decision was made to hold a pot-luck supper.

The date for the Annual W. A.

Church Service was set for the evening of Sunday the 23rd of February.

After this last item of business, Mrs. Patterson asked Mrs. Maurice Bell to conduct the remaining part of the programme.

The opening hymn, "71, seemed most appropriate for the life and work of the year ahead. The Scripture Lesson read by Mrs. Harold Wells was chosen from 1 Genesis, 1st verse, "In the beginning God created heaven and earth." Also from John 1-5, "In the beginning was the Word and the Word was with God, and the Word was God. . . All things were made by Him. . . in Him was Life and the Life was the Light of men." Mrs. Ashley Brooks gave the commentary on the lesson and offered prayer.

"A Song You Can't Forget." This was an interesting story read by Mrs. A. Packman, telling how Mallote, who wrote, "The Song of the Open Road," came also to compose the music for "The Lord's Prayer," the rendition of which has stirred the souls of thousands who hear it. At the close of the story, the prayer was most beautifully sung by Mrs. W. Wilkins, with Mrs. H. West as accompanist.

Mrs. Percy Utman read an interesting poem on "The New Year." A devotional reading by Mrs. H. David was thought provoking. In closing were these words, "Approaching a closed door we momentarily hesitate to open it, but at the threshold of 1958 there stands God to enter it, with us. May we have faith in Him and ourselves."

Just before the meeting closed Mrs. Patterson spoke briefly concerning the possibility and advisability of forming a Junior W.A. group for younger women of the church, who because of small families or business activities, are unable to attend the regular W.A. meetings held in the afternoons. Many opinions and suggestions were made concerning such a venture.

Dr. A. Packman who was then present, was asked to pronounce the benediction.

The members of the executive, as hostesses, served refreshing tea and a delicious lunch, for which, on behalf of all present, Mrs. A. Fraser expressed most sincere appreciation.

Dr. J. S. Demorest, Foxboro Doctor "Chaired" By Community

(Contributed)

It has been said "that a man is not without honour save in his own country," but such a saying does not apply to Dr. J. S. Demorest, of Foxboro. The Doctor attended Public School in Foxboro, High School in Belleville and having decided to study for a doctor, he attended the University of Manitoba, and having obtained his degree he practised medicine in Alberta. He became very successful in his profession and was much sought after as a consultant. After some years he developed a yearning to practise in his home town and when the opportunity came, he returned to continue his career here.

Here, he has developed a practice that takes in not only the village, but the County at large.

There are times when people's thoughts go much farther than Christmas cards and their appreciation of others goes deeper than mere words.

With this feeling in their hearts, the friends and neighbours of the Doctors decided to express their feelings toward him in a more tangible way. So combining their efforts, at Christmas time they presented the Doctor with a leather chair. Taken completely by surprise the Doctor felt that, after all, his life and work in Foxboro had been deeply appreciated.

"Let him who would be great among you be the servant of all." In the meaning of this quotation the Doctor truly is a great man. He is on call twenty-four hours of the day and responds to our needs. The signal of distress goes out and he becomes a "Life Saver to Many."

We hope that he will, for some time, be able to minister to our physical needs in the same competent way as in the past. We continue our kind thoughts of him by wishing him A Very Happy New Year.

Mrs. John Kane read the Scripture Lesson from Isaiah, 9: 2-8 and Mrs. George Heasman gave the commentary on it, "The people that walked in the darkness have seen a great light." The hymn, "The Light of the World is Jesus," was sung, followed by prayer. The little folk present gave recitations and there was a piano solo by Cheryle Utman.

The theme for the day was, "Let the song go round the earth. Jesus Christ is Lord." The singing of several Christmas Carols was enjoyed. Mrs. Heasman read the Christmas story and the second chapter from the story book on the history of Japan. The hymn, "O Little Town of Bethlehem" was sung and the meeting closed with the Mizpah Benediction.

Callan -- Mumby Nuptials, Port Hope

A lovely wedding took place in St. Mark's Anglican Church, Port Hope, on December 28th, when Mary Elaine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold J. Mumby, and Gordon Arthur Clive Callan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clive M. Callan, of Toronto, were united in marriage in a double-ring ceremony performed by Canon C. H. Boulden.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose for her wedding a gown of white peau de sole appliqued with Alencon lace, seed pearls and iridescent sequins. The fitted bodice buttoned down the back and had a Sabrina neckline. The full skirt worn over a hoop fell to a chapel train. A crown of seed pearls and sequins held her veil of silk tulle and she carried a white prayer book crested with yellow roses and Stephanotis.

Miss Roberta Mumby, maid of honor, and the bridesmaids, Miss Barbara Haultain and Mrs. William Bible and Patricia Scully, wore waist-length dresses of poinsettia silk chiffon velvet and white fur headdresses and they carried small white fur muffs with holly attached.

The flower girl, Jennine Brownlee, was in white pleated chiffon lace with headdress of yellow roses and a nosegay of roses, tulips and Stephanotis.

Mr. Lawrence Law was groomsman and the ushers were Messrs. William Bible, Donald Steadman and Thomas Barber.

At the reception held in the new Masonic Temple, the bride's mother received the guests in a dress of brocaded lace chiffon over satin with matching accessories and corsage of pink roses. The bridegroom's mother assisted and wore gray satin brocade with matching accessories and corsage of coral roses.

Guests were present from New York, Toronto, Hamilton, Belleville, Peterborough, Oshawa, Bonarlaw and Marmora.

On their return from a honeymoon in Northern United States the young couple will reside in Port Credit.

The bride is a niece of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Mumby, Harold, and a granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Mumby, Bonarlaw.

Marmora School Named After Principal Prentice

Marmora's new $75,000 public school Friday night became officially the "Earl Prentice" school.

The naming climaxed ceremonies at the official opening of the school, which actually has been in use since last September, with the finishing touches being made while lessons proceeded.

G. W. Nelson, inspector of public schools for the central Hastings district, called Mr. and Mrs. Prentice to the platform near the end of the meeting and announced that the new school would be named after Mr. Prentice, who has been principal of the Marmora public school since 1921. Mr. Prentice was taken by surprise by the announcement.

Mr. Prentice now teaches Grade 8 at the new school. He acts as principal for both the old and the new public schools, with the vice-principal, Glen Watson, in charge of the old school.

Former Pupils

Many former pupils of Mr. Prentice were among the crowd of 200 who braved the icy weather to attend the ceremonies, with Don Marrett, chairman of Marmora public school board, in the chair.

The new school is of modern design, and was still brightly garbed with the students' Christmas decorations, including a Nativity scene in the grade 1 room.

There is also a special study-room for the teachers, furnished by the Home and School Association.

Mr. Prentice introduced Mr. Nelson, who said in his address that there was "no future in the past, but the past is needed on which to build a future."

Among those present was Mrs. Clayton Burkitt, public school nurse for the last 25 years.

54,000 Tons Output At Marmora Mine

Marmoraton Mining Co., near Marmora, is completing a record year in which 54,000 tons of high grade iron ore pellets have been produced, compared with their first full year's output of 306,000 tons in 1956.

Present payroll of this subsidiary of Bethlehem Steel Co. is 309, of whom 201 are employed at Marmora.

The run of pit ore, grading 37 per cent iron, is mined at the rate of 4,250 tons daily, yielding some 1,750 tons of pellets that grade at least 85 per cent iron.

These pellets, which are about three-quarters of an inch in diameter, are shipped from the company's ore dock at Picton to their blast furnaces at Lackawanna, near Buffalo, N.Y.

No Slowdown

The CNR hauls Marmoraton ore the 64 miles to Picton. Loading facilities have been established at the dock, together with storage for some 250,000 tons. With the recent suspension of winter shipping, there has been no slowdown in the mine or plant output. Both are operating at capacity from the open-pit mine at Marmora, and the pellet product is being stockpiled at Picton.

The Northern Miner says the ore pellets are an ideal feed for the blast furnaces near Buffalo. They require less coke and limestone, and when a furnace is charged with them, it yields approximately 20 per cent more pig-iron.

Marmoraton is the third-ranking iron ore producer in Ontario, and is operating around the clock on a seven-day week basis.

Rombough--Madsen Nuptials

At a quiet double-ring ceremony on Christmas Day, Betty Jean Madsen and Kenneth Edward Rombough were married by the Rev. H. E. Beare at the Parsonage in Springbrook.

They were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Don Rombough, of Peterborough. The bride wore a navy suit with white and navy accessories. Her corsage was pink tea roses.

After the ceremony the bridal couple were entertained at a Christmas dinner reception at the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sandy Rombough, of Bonarlaw.

The bride and groom left for points west. On their return they will reside in London.

The bride is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Madsen, London.

A Traveller's Note Book

As in former years we reach that happy day when, as we said before Christmas, "We would attend to the many things which the care of Christmas caused us to leave or neglect." Alas! We are as busy as we were before Christmas. Because of this, and in order to plan the nation's economy, I have thought of a way out. With others, I have always found that by Christmas Eve there are a million things to be done, and by Christmas Day, many things left undone. Here then is a plan:

First, I would start in January to buy my Christmas presents for the coming Christmas. This would be beneficial in several ways. Since the stores put on their "Sale" after Christmas, we could always get things at bargain prices. This in turn would spell a bright outlook for trade at the beginning of the year and save the individual the sleepless nights which are usually his towards the middle of December when he lies battling with the question: "What shall I get for him, or her?"

February might well be the month during which we get our postal list renewed, or made up. That most people would have moved from their present address by the end of the year should not worry us. You would naturally buy your next Christmas cards during this month.

March and the cold evenings are best fitted for women's work, so my suggestion is that mothers start planning their Christmas cakes and puddings. Both cake and pudding improves if it is made as early as possible. In each case, the material should be steamed for at least five hours. The cake and pudding could be cooked again when needed.

I do, therefore, most seriously suggest that this first quarter plan be put into operation. When the time arrives, we will print the next instalment.

The Fellow In Between

Not sufficient consideration has ever been given to the bloke in the middle, and as a result, he has always been on the thin end. For an example: The only people who can afford to be ill, are those with plenty of money and those who have no money. This fact alone should cause us to take kindly to the so called "Welfare State and State Medicine." It may be a bitter pill to swallow after all that we have said about Socialist measures, it is, however, about the only argument we have left against communism. Canada has in the past been doubly blessed and is today, having always had a wonderful bunch of doctors who have done as much, maybe more, than any other class of men for the country.

Take another example: There are two persons who enjoy what most people look upon as "freedom." These are the people who can get up in the morning, snuff the breeze, call the maid and say, "I just don't know what to do with myself, I think I will fly to Cairo." And the bum who lives under the hay. It's always the middle fellow. Carried out, this argument of course will land you into all kinds of trouble, but don't mind that. Sooner or later, some one has got to get into trouble and it might as well be you.

Another example should not be overlooked. Business assures us that there is no middle course possible.

That is, you either have to be a big operator or get off the industrial poop. You can't operate in second gear. Of course, the people who hold this view have never yet told us just where it gets you, but again, don't bother, it might as well be you.

If another department of life should be mentioned in this connection, it should be the teaching profession. I can imagine a sales-line put over by some "brain" from headquarters addressing a local school. He would most certainly tell the boys and girls just why they should become teachers. I can further imagine a teacher telling his class just why the boys and girls should not become teachers — it's worth thinking about — because it might be you!

Ont. Premier Supports Compulsory Car Insurance

Compulsory automobile insurance in Ontario may become a reality within the next year. This was indicated following a strong plea for such action from the Ontario Municipal Association which waited on Premier Frost and members of the cabinet.

The premier told the delegation he was in full accord with the principle of compulsory car insurance, but stressed that certain steps must be taken before it is put into effect. With the information obtained from the 1958 license applications, which requires proof of insurance under pain of a $5.00 penalty, it would be possible to learn who is and who is not covered.

At present there are no detailed statistics on the number of Ontario motorists who carry car insurance. Insurance companies are not in a position to give it and information in the files of the Motor Vehicles Branch is given voluntarily by the applicant for a license, and therefore is not considered reliable.

Once the picture becomes clear, the department plans to communicate with every uninsured motorist and explain to him the shaky position he would find himself in in the event of an accident resulting in personal injury or death of a second party. It is believed many partially insured motorists are under the mistaken impression that they carry sufficient coverage.

The government is anxious to avoid disturbing the rate structure for car insurance, which insurance came into effect prematurely. Compulsory insurance at this stage also would result in high judgments in cases now pending.

License Deadline Next March 1st

Deadline for obtaining 1958 license plates and drivers' licenses will be midnight, March 12th. Transport Minister Allan has announced. Plates and licenses were issued at 250 offices in Ontario on January 2nd.

Approximately 2,000,000 of the new plates with black letters on a white background will be issued during 1958.

Mr. Allan also reminded motorists of the necessity of presenting a liability insurance certificate with their application for plates to avoid the payment of an additional $5.00 for the Unsatisfied Judgment Fund.

RESOLUTION FOR '58

This year could be the biggest in Canada's history. It depends on you and me.

To prove that I suppose I could quote the Chamber of Commerce or the Canadian Manufacturer's Association or the president of any big corporation. If I did, chances are that some readers would say, "Pooh! Those birds are just trying to squeeze more work out of us." So, instead, I'll quote a man from the trade union movement.

"What it comes to is this, there is only a certain sized cake to be divided up and if a lot of people want a larger slice they can only get it by taking it from others. There is only one way by which we can with a given volume of employment increase our real standard of living and that is by each of us producing more or in other words putting up our productivity. There is no other answer."

That was spoken by Sir Stafford Chipps to the Trades Union Congress. Blunt words but true.

And because they are true, they present a challenge.

Are you, personally, doing your best work? Or are you coasting? Are you a self-starter, or does the boss have to stand behind you and give you a nudge?

If you have been a slow-poke, a slow-down expert, are you willing, for at least this one year, to make a change? If you and I and everyone who happens to read this column made a firm decision to extend themselves in 1958, we'd set a pace that would inspire others. A few thousand really hard-working individuals can accomplish surprising things.

Of course, it would be much easier to sit back and hope that the government will make us all prosperous. However, I've sat in the gallery at Ottawa and watched parliament in action. They don't grow any grain, plow any fields, build any factories, dig any ditches. They make laws and they spend money — your money and mine. If we count on them to create prosperity, we're going to be out of luck. They just can't do it.

The hard facts of life are that we, as individuals, must do the producing. Sure, if many of us work hard there will always be a few who drag their feet and perhaps get more than their share of what we have produced. However, if we all drag our feet, we all suffer for it.

So how's about a resolution? A faster gait in fifty eight!

Who Started The Tradition of Christmas Stockings In The British Commonwealth?

The traditions of the Christmas stocking, along with other present day Yuletide customs, such as the Christmas tree, trace their start in the Commonwealth from those introduced into England from Germanic traditions by Prince Albert, Queen Victoria's Consort. Traditions in Canada have originated, in the majority of cases from those practised in Europe. So it was with the hanging of greenery, holly and cranberry branches and the indulging in the large dinners of such old English dishes as fowl, beef, plum pudding and mince pies, which were customs brought over by the British settlers.

From France came the Messe de Minuit (Midnight Mass), and the réveillon de Noël, including a large family dinner of meat pies, meat balls, suet pudding, pies and doughnuts, to the accompaniment of party games and dancing until the day-break. However, the exchange of presents in New France was usually held over until New Year's Day, when the children learned of Pere Noel, or St. Nicholas, as a messenger from the Christ Child.

What Was The Origin of The Christmas Card?

The Christmas Card, as we know it, dates back to the year 1846, when Sir Henry Cole in England, commissioned John C. Horsely, R.A., artist, to design a greeting card to send to friends. This was the first known Christmas Card designed for the purpose, although greetings may have been sent in similar fashion prior to that date. It is reported that 1,000 of Sir Henry's cards were printed.

The pioneer of the Christmas Card business in the United States was Louis Prang, of Boston, who started a flourishing trade. It can be considered likely that the origin of the Canadian Christmas Card dates from about the same time, somewhere around the year 1876. However, it is quite likely that the English designs were used in Canada before the American card.

What Is Broadcast That Links Canada With The Far North?

The programme, 'Northern Messenger', broadcast over the C.B.C. has sent for many years Christmas greetings from families and friends to those in the Far North, and it is one of Canada's traditional radio programmes for the Christmas season. It links those living in the more populated communities with those who, year in and year out, carry on with their work in the Far North. Among those to whom the messages are sent, are members of the R.C.M.P. and the Services, trappers, technicians and those ministering to the needs of the Eskimos.

Quick Can. Quizz

4. What proportion of working Canadians are employed in manufacturing? In agriculture?
5. Over the past century the number of hours in the average work-week in Canadian industry has decreased at what rate?

ANSWERS: 5. By three every ten years. 3. All but the beaver. 1. Quebec extends the furthest north, Ontario furthest south. 4. In manufacturing 25 percent; in agriculture, 15 percent. 2. Social security and welfare costs about $2.5 billion a year; education about $500 million, roads and highways about $500 million.

O.M.H.A. Does Not Intend To Tolerate Rough Play

The Ontario Minor Hockey Association at its meeting held on Saturday, December 28th at the King Edward Hotel, Toronto, gave fair warning that it does not intend to tolerate rough hockey nor Coaches that cannot control their players. The following suspensions were issued:

Coach Kalochuk was suspended for one year from December 2nd, 1957 and he will not be issued an O.M.H.A. coach's card for five years. Player Bob Hawkins was suspended for one year to date from December 2nd, 1957 as a result of his hitting a referee across the hand with his stick. Player Bob Easto was suspended for seven games from December 2nd, 1957, because he charged Tillsonburg player John Lamers into the boards causing a concussion. The aforementioned suspensions were levied because of a fracas which occurred in a game between Brantford and Tillsonburg Juniors on December 2nd, 1957. The coach and two players were from the Brantford team.

Player Bob McVicar, also of Brantford Juniors, was suspended for a total of seven games as a result of a match penalty he received in a game between Brantford and Woodstock on December 9th, 1957. In this game, player Love of Woodstock, was hit on the head by McVicar's stick.

President Jack Oakes, of Strathroy, said that he had instructed Secretary Gary McLeod to check future referee reports carefully and that players getting an unusually large number of penalties will receive no consideration from the O.M.H.A. Coaches likewise must keep their players under control. Referees will be protected from unruly players and Coaches alike.

Players Certificates

Team Managers and Coaches are again warned that players must not play in games until their certificates have been registered with the O.M.H.A. Registrar, J. W. Whiston, 62 Kenilworth Cr., Scarborough, Ont. Teams playing in Groups as of now are asked to register their players immediately or suspensions will follow.

Remember "Minor Hockey Week In Canada" starts January 25th, 1958.

Canadians Owe $850 Million To Finance Companies

In Canada today, 90% of the total population do not pay cash for the goods they buy, according to Hugh Garner, in the current issue of Liberty magazine. "We owe the grand sum of $850 million to finance and loan companies. Another $990 million worth of our goods lies in stock."

"Next to the battle between the sexes, the biggest war in Canada today is between debtors and creditors," says Mr. Garner. "The creditors usually come out on top, but there are exceptions. In 1951, one woman repudiated a $10,000 debt."

Repossessions — taking back goods not paid for — often run as high as 5% of total sales. In the car business, 90% of sales comes from men who buy cars and then skip with them, reports Mr. Garner.

One Nova Scotia man won a $5,000 law suit against a finance company in Halifax. The bailiffs, mistaking him for a skip, removed his car from a parking lot, while he was staying at a hotel in Halifax. This mistake cost them well above the price of a new car.

One Montreal bailiff once spent an uncomfortable two hours, when he went to repossess a TV set. While he was on the roof, removing the antenna, the lady of the house casually lifted the ladder away. Then she piled the TV set in her car and drove off — leaving the startled bailiff stranded on the roof, until the fire department finally came to his rescue.

This booming credit business is regulated by 95 Associated Credit Bureaus of Canada, headed by Arthur Bullied. These sleuths know more than your financial status — they know, from your neighbours, how much you drink, whether you're unfaithful to your wife, and even how often you beat her at night.

GOOD DRIVERS

A remark in Charlie Whipp's column in the London Evening Free Press could provide food for thought to a great many drivers. After a review of some questionable driving practices — following too closely, inattention on right of way in all circumstances, "sneaking" into crosswalks, etc., he points out: "Good drivers don't need to cheat."

What Others Say I

UP AND UP

(Toronto Globe and Mail)

The main reason why the railways have to keep charging more for hauling freight is that they have to keep paying wage increases to their employees.

And why do they have to keep paying wage increases to their employees? Because employees of other companies — notably, of industrial firms — keep getting wage increases themselves.

And who keeps handing out those wage increases? The same industrial leaders who are now squawking so loudly over the 3.6 percent freight increase approved by the Transport Board. They are hoist with their own petard.

LAW FOR CLEAN WINDSHIELDS

(Toronto Globe and Mail)

New York State's Bureau of Motor Vehicles has declared war on cluttered windshields. It will ask legislature to outlaw such things as "baby booties and dangling dice," or any object obstructing the driver's view through the windshield or rear window.

We could stand some of that reform spirit in Ontario. Our own Highway Traffic Act prohibits obstructing the view with "any sign poster or other non-transparent material or object..." But any day, on any street or highway, windshields and windows are to be seen cluttered with teddy bears, slogans, stickers and the like until it is next to impossible to see through the glass.

In statute, if not in practice, we are apparently ahead of New York. But since we have such a law why not enforce it?

EDITORS AWAIT TRANQUIL TIMES

(Cornwall Standard-Freeholder)

Newspapers today devote much space to what are known as human interest stories. The child who lost a hand. A puppy for a sick boy. The marriage of so-and-so and so-and-so.

There is a logical explanation. Newspaper editors have become surfeited with war and rumors of war, international intrigue and political manipulations at home and abroad.

If the men responsible for the daily selection of published news had their way they would banish Krushchev and Sputnik from their pages. Murder and crime have become so commonplace they fail to arouse the old enthusiasm for sensation.

There are those who appear to believe newspapermen find satisfaction in happenings in a world gone crazy. But this is far from the truth. They are, as a matter of fact, kindly souls who would prefer news about the wholesome aspects of life, instead of the dreary. To a man they hope for a return of more tranquil times.

GREAT SHORTAGE OF OSTEOPATHIC PHYSICIANS

Young men and women, as they discuss with parents or vocational advisors at school what their lifework shall be, are usually advised to select a field which is not already overcrowded. But without specific information, it is not easy for the student to know what that field might be.

The Canadian Census Classification, under "Professional Service," lists "Osteopathic Physician, Doctor of Osteopathy, Osteopath." Here is a profession which is comparatively new and consequently presents many openings for both young men and women, particularly in the smaller towns of Canada, where there is a great shortage of doctors. Although yearly net incomes for established Osteopathic Physicians range from $8,000 a year up to $20,000, there are only about 100 Osteopathic Physicians practising in the whole of Canada. This, then, is one field which is not only uncrowded, but also offers a lucrative living, and is in need of young men and women who have lives, brains, hearts and hands to dedicate to it.

The Osteopathic Physician — while he is highly trained in, and makes full use of all accepted clinical methods of diagnosis and treatment of disease and injury — places especial emphasis on structural and manipulation. This is the art and science of detecting, evaluating, and then correcting any departures by the body from a state of normal health. The required training, which is carried on in Osteopathic Colleges, is long, comprehensive and thorough, but given the graduate professional standing which is recognized all across Canada.

An interesting and fully-explanatory monograph on the Osteopathic Physician is available on request from the Vocational Guidance Centre, Ontario College of Education, University of Toronto, 371 Bloor Street West, Toronto 5, Ontario.

Be Sure of What You're Shooting At

The following lines, author unknown, first appeared in the Philadelphia Ledger in 1909 and were reprinted recently in the British Columbia Game Commission's Wildlife Review: A hunter popped a partridge on a hill it made a great to do and then was still.

It seems (when, later on, his bag has spilled) It was his guide!

One shot a squirrel in a nearby wood: A pretty shot, off-hand, from where he stood.

It wore, they said, a shooting hat of brown And lived in town!

And one dispatched a rabbit for his haul That later proved to measure six feet tall;

And, less you think I'm handing you: a myth, Its name was Smith!

Another Nimrod slew the champion fox. He glimpsed him lurking in among the rocks,

One rapid shot — it never spoke or moved, The inquest proved!

A cautious man espied a gleam of brown; Was it a deer, or Jones, a friend from town?

And while he pondered on the river's brim, Jones potted him!

NEWS FOR THE BUSY FARMER

ALL FARM INCOME DOWN BUT LIVESTOCK

Cash income of Canadian farms in the third quarter of this year fell to $638,000,000 down nearly 10 per cent from a year earlier, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics report.

It attributed a large part of the decline to smaller prairie grain marketings, especially in Saskatchewan.

Cash income in the July-September period compared with $698,000,000 a year earlier. It brought the total for the first nine months of 1957 to an estimated $1,847,000,000, about three per cent less than the $1,911,000,000 income in the 1956 period.

Cash income from field crops in July-September was an estimated $184,000,000, down almost one-third from $267,000,000 in the corresponding period of 1956. Prices averaged somewhat lower, the bureau said, but the major part of the decline was due to smaller marketings of wheat, oats, barley and rye.

Wheat accounted for more than half of the drop in returns from field crops. Income from sugar beets was substantially higher.

Income from the sale of livestock and livestock products in the July-September period was an estimated $412,000,000, up six per cent from a year earlier. The only commodity in this group to show a decline was poultry meat. Higher hog prices accounted for the major part of the increase.

Dairy Farmers of Canada To Meet This Month

With decreased net farm income forecast for 1958, much of the discussion at the 16th annual meeting of the Dairy Farmers of Canada will have to do with the price of milk for all purposes. To be held in Quebec City January 21-25, the meeting will bring together delegates from 32 member associations with a total membership of nearly 400,000 producers.

At the forefront of commodity group discussions will be the interpretation of provincial and federal legislation as it affects milk marketing in general. Floor price legislation currently being presented by the federal government will be of prime interest to the convention at which federal minister of Agriculture, Hon. D. S. Harkness, will present the view-point of his government.

Keynoting the commodity discussions will be D. B. Goodwillie of the Canada Department of Agriculture Marketing Service, Ottawa. Dr. D. K. Wells, Veterinary Director-General for Canada will discuss the health of dairy cattle for the production of high quality milk.

A highlight of the convention will be a panel discussion, "Dairy Farming for the Future," featuring the views of a producer, farm and co-operative organization executives and an agricultural economist.

Among those who will be heard at the convention will be W. B. Rietz, Dairy Farmers of Canada; F. J. Reynolds, National Dairy Council of Canada; I. T. Ormiston, Associated Milk Foundations; Dr. H. H. Hannam, Canadian Federation of Agriculture; R. Martin, La Co-Operative Federece de Quebec; J. B. Lemoine, L'Union Catholique de Cultivateurs; Dr. D. L. MacFarlane, of MacDonald College, P.Q.; W. G. Tilden, Ontario Concentrated Milk Producers Association; M. Halle, Le Service de Produits du Lait, Montreal.

Of particular interest to delegates this year will be the use of simultaneous translation of all addresses and discussion during the two days of the convention open to the public. Previously, conventions held in Quebec were slowed by the practice of consecutive translation. Dairy Farmers will be the first national farm organization to adopt the simultaneous method.

HEATHER — A POSSIBLE ENEMY

As an example of how regulations to prevent the spread of crop diseases can be violated quite innocently, several heather plants had to be refused entry into Canada during the summer by officials of the Plant Protection Division, Canada Department of Agriculture. The action was not taken to stop Canadian Scots from receiving a sprig of heather from the folk at home. It became necessary to prevent the possibility of the Golden Nematode being introduced into Canada on the roots and adhering soil of the heather plants. This particular nematode, a microscopic member of the worm family, which can do great damage to growing plants, is unknown in Canada and so stringent regulations are justified to prevent its introduction into Canadian soil.

An additional threat arose when it was found that to preserve freshness, some of the sprigs of heather had been embedded in raw potatoes. The importation of potatoes from Europe is prohibited to guard against the introduction of potato wart disease. This disease, which if established could be most detrimental to Canada's potato crop, is unknown in Canada except in Newfoundland.

All heather which was free of roots and soil and was in no way contaminated by the potatoes was released for delivery to the recipients, as was heather certified by the Minister of Agriculture in Scotland as being free of the Golden Nematode. Naturally the potatoes were destroyed.

CONSERVATION NEWS

A Heritage And A Problem

Geology has deduced that the last glaciers withdrew from the Tweed District 25,000 years ago, leaving us with the general topography we have today. From that point on nature began the slow and exacting process of building for us a land which we would not trade for any other. She provided us with streams and lakes, fish and fowl, animals and forests. To this land some 24,000 years later came the white man — the explorer, the trapper, the soldier, the settler, the lumberman, the merchant and now, we find ourselves in a rather remarkable position. We in 200 years have destroyed and despoiled much of that which it took nature 25,000 years to build. We have polluted many of the lakes and rivers, we have fished most of the fish, we have killed most of the fowl and animals and we have cut and burned most of the forests. We have done well! Fortunately it is not yet too late to reverse this trend. Nature is forgiving and with a little help from us is willing to rebuild that which we have so nearly destroyed.

Narrowing the discussion down to the timber problem in our District, we find ourselves facing a tremendous undertaking. It is only recently that the public in general has begun to appreciate the nature of the problem. This process of declining production and reserves is an insidious thing. Almost before we know it our forests are gone and our industries are closing down and moving away. Forest reserves which seemed inexhaustible are almost depleted.

It is interesting to note this comment found in the Annual Report of the Clerk of Forestry for the Province of Ontario for the year 1807:

"As the general conditions of our cut over and fire swept timber lands and the nature and habits of the young tree growth thereon become better known the problem of forest perpetuation and continuous timber crops on the Crown Lands of Ontario becomes easier of solution."

Even then, the problem of restoring our forests and establishing practices to ensure a sustained yield were being discussed. Unfortunately public opinion was not yet strong enough — there was yet too much timber left to the north and west in other parts of Ontario as yet virtually untouched. The danger of a shortage of timber was not sufficiently apparent.

In 1947 the Report of the Ontario Royal Commission on Forestry notes that "the history of forest operations in this Province with few exceptions has been that of cut and get out." The report further states that: "Some of what are potentially the most productive, but actually the worst managed forest lands are in or adjoining the earliest settled portions of the Province. Since these lands are close to the consuming market and have the best growth and moisture conditions they present possibilities for an exceedingly profitable field in the matter of reforestation and management."

These observations are eminently applicable to the Tweed District. Fortunately, the public has, in increasing numbers, come to realize the problem and the danger. The Crown Timber Act of 1952 which is our guide in present timber management practice, sets down very carefully the regulations under which we are able to undertake our rebuilding programme while better controlling the operations on such commercially timbered areas as still exist. An increasing number of foresters and other trained men are in the field searching out the secrets of nature's ways of reproducing and growing trees. We are able to accelerate in many ways the growth of our future forests. While we cannot hope to complete this task in your lifetime or in mine, we are sure that 200 years from now we will have brought our forests much closer to the balanced state in which we found them.

Americans Spend Millions On Pampered Pets

Dogdom had its rarest day in history when a shaggy Soviet canine first whirled around the earth in Sputnik II. Pooch met planetary politics with this epochal trip.

In the United States no single pup can challenge the sudden fame of the Soviet Laika. But lest America's dogs droop their tails with dismay, one may note that the 25 million canines from Maine to California today add up to mighty big business.

Americans spend better than a half-million dollars a year on their dogs, buying them everything from sequined collars and scaled-down polo coats to dog houses with central heating. (Some dog houses even contain Persian rugs for Fido.)

The biggest single item is food. The annual bill runs to 275 million dollars and one firm has come up with a special food for dogs that are short on exercise.

On Manhattan, an island where the poodle seems to reign, one dog specialty shop grosses as much as $100,000 in a single year. Here a pedicure for your poodle — depending on the style — costs between $8 and $25.

Shops offer terry cloth beach robes in bright yellow (with matching "nut-mits") and one reports that an out-of-town dog fancier once ordered a collar and leash to go with pink curtains in her home.

Dogs even turn up in economic type forecasts. Witness this outlook pegged to the pooch as issued in the mid-1950's by the Gaines Dog Research Centre.

"The favourable economic outlook for the next ten years should increase the demand for puppies. Increasing leisure hours also are helping to boost pet ownership.

"Anticipated change in the make-up of the United States population — many more youngsters from 10 to 18 and oldsters over 65 — is a still further element in creating a 'climate' favourable to dog ownership.

"An estimated 8 million new families will set up housekeeping in the next 10 years and at least 40 per cent will acquire a dog."

Magic, Myth and Modern Medicine

Magical influence — evil spirits, distant and unknown forces, jealous gods — were early believed to cause disease. Treatment called for knowledge and placation of these forces. The courses of illness pronounced the treatment's success or failure, just as it still does.

Roots and herbs were given to the patient in an attempt to soothe these powerful forces. Their curative value was imputed to their shape. Magical medicine is still practiced today, although chiefly among peoples apart from the stream of civilization.

Religion and medicine were intricately mixed in many ancient cultures. Egypt's rules of hygiene, covering nearly every daily action, were in the form of religious injunctions. In Israel, religious law banning pork and shellfish was probably founded on accurate knowledge of the deadly trichinosis these foods transmitted.

Twenty-five hundred years ago, in Greece, the theory of magical causation gave way to the belief that health is harmony among the substances of the body, illness a disturbance of that harmony. Symptoms Hippocrates stated, were the body's reaction to disease. Four elements, or humors — earth, fire, air, water, each possessing its own particular quality of cold or heat, wetness or dryness — composed the body's substance.

The medical works of Hippocrates combined the knowledge of the Mediterranean people, of the Orient, and of his own predecessors. Already a legend during his lifetime, Hippocrates' rules of medicine lasted almost unchanged for the next two and a half centuries.

Down through the ages into modern times, the true causes of disease remained largely a mystery. But a little over a century ago, two men began a revolution whose nature they did not fully comprehend. Semmelweis insisted that clean hands could break the chain of infection in women dying of childbed fever in his maternity ward. Lister proved that antiseptics prevented fatal surgical infections. Both had learned to fight bacterial infection, but not until Pasteur's work in the latter half of the 19th century was the nature of this fight fully known.

A chemist, Pasteur was employed in the study of wine diseases, a serious problem in France. He concluded that yeasts — tiny living organisms — were responsible for the fermentation of grape juice into wine. The next, important phase of his work involved vaccination, the inoculation of sheep with dilute anthrax germs to protect them against the fatal disease. The nature of bacterial illness was known, but until the third decade of this century, most doctors believed we would never produce specific cures for all the infections that beset man.

A new medical era began in the 1930's with the sulfa drugs. Until that time, medicine had measures against certain of the larger intestinal parasites, but otherwise its drugs relieved only symptoms. With the sulfas — specific agents against disease organisms — doctors had a way of destroying disease without destroying the patient. Meningitis mortality dropped from 70 to 10 per cent; several forms of pneumonia were quickly and easily curable.

But the curative power of sulfa drugs was limited and many patients tolerated them poorly. The research was renewed for drugs, more potent against disease, less harmful to man.

Science at last found such a drug in penicillin. But the need for specific cures did not end there. Penicillin, is ineffective against certain germs. So the search for other antibiotics was intensified. The next discovery was streptomycin, chiefly effective against a very old enemy, tuberculosis.

Then came the broad-spectrum antibiotics, single drugs capable of eradicating whole groups of diseases. Terramycin, for example, routs more than 100 human infections and Signemycin strikes disease organisms which resist other antibiotics.

With infection largely under control, medical science today has turned more attention to other major health problems. What causes mental breakdowns, heart ailments, and the many diseases which seem to stem from upsets in the body's delicately-balanced chemistry? Doctors do not yet know all the answers. But already drugs have been developed to calm once-unmanageable mental patients, to aid victims of heart trouble, and to ease the pain-burdened arthritic.

The age of magical medicine has been replaced by the age of "miracle drugs," and by the knowledge that in his fight against disease, man must learn to control not the perverse whims of the gods, but the forces of nature.

Canada's first step in conservation took place shortly after the British conquest. By a special enactment, the choicest of pine and spruce trees were reserved for use for naval construction.

...you must show proof of Liability Insurance*...

If you do not have this Liability Insurance Certificate, phone your insurance company or agent today.

...or pay $5.00 EXTRA into the Unsatisfied Judgment Fund

Here's why: The additional $5.00 fee to be paid by motorists without Liability coverage is made necessary because of the new increased maximum payments available from the Unsatisfied Judgment Fund. The Fund was established by the Government to help pay judgments arising out of accidents involving uninsured motor vehicles. Drivers of such vehicles must repay the full amount of the judgment to the Fund.

If you do not have Liability Insurance, and are involved in an accident, you could lose everything you own. Should a judgment be made against you, and you do not have Liability Insurance or other means of meeting it, you could lose your home, your motor vehicle, your savings and a large part of your future earnings to meet the judgment.

*LIABILITY INSURANCE is your protection against legal obligations arising from accidents involving injury, death or damage to property of others. A policy for Fire, Theft and Collision is NOT Liability Insurance.

The additional $5.00 payment is NOT a substitute for Liability Insurance

STIRLING CENTENNIAL, AUG. 3rd to 6th, 1958

DO YOU KNOW THAT...

The quotation "highest prices paid for potash and all kinds of produce" which prevailed in the earliest general store advertisement of Thos. Johnson & Co., Wm. Judd, Thomas Kelso, John Black and J. Hawley, has aroused the curiosity of certain members of the Centennial Book Committee? What is potash and how was it obtained.

When settlers first came the land was heavily wooded and it was necessary to dispose of great quantities of timber. Trees were cut with axes — there were no saws. They were placed in huge wedge-shaped piles and burned, the ashes being carefully preserved and protected from rain. Rudely constructed trough-shaped kilns were set up to hold the ashes. These usually had marsh hay or a similar substance in the bottom to filter the liquid which seeped through the ashes as leach or lye, water being poured sparingly on the top each day. This liquid was boiled in large iron potash kettles until the water was evaporated. The residue was packed in barrels for sale and would net the producer $4 to $7 each. Beech and maple produced the best grades and it required approximately three acres of timber to yield one barrel of potash.

At first everyone made their own potash, then it became a community enterprise and there are several locations throughout the area where the land is still of no use because of the ashes and lye which saturated the soil.

Special barrels for the packing of potash were manufactured by Jerome Conley where the present Stirling Public Library now stands.

After the supply of wood had decreased there was still a good market for potash. People would save their ashes and they would be collected by an "ash-cat," payment being made by one bar of soap for each boiler of ashes.

port of any society is desirable when its usefulness has disappeared. Thus, a society for the financing of hospital beds for diphtheria (a quite conceivable objective a generation ago) outlives its usefulness when a society for the prevention of diphtheria has eliminated diphtheria.

It is also logical (although it may be a bitter lesson for some) that when sickness which creates the poverty which makes welfare societies necessary disappears, then the need for the welfare society itself diminishes. This is a fact which is not as yet realized, and the enormous sums spent on hospital beds and welfare in this and other countries has as yet failed to shock people into uniting in all-out campaigns to eliminate all the sickness which can be eliminated.

A speaker at a recent congress on problems of aging held in Toronto made the statement that some day an expectation of life of a hundred and twenty years is possible. This is no impractical dream. It is a clear possibility. The fact that we are far from its realization is due to the fact that people are too lazy to think "Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof" is the motto of too many of us. If we desire as a race to live longer and happier lives this is a fatal doctrine. If life is to be longer, more support for the volunteers fighting to this end is necessary.

Measure For Measure

A study of "National Voluntary Health Associations in Canada" recently published by the Health League of Canada, may well lead to further steps in organizing our means of supporting voluntary efforts in Canada. It is true, as this magazine has often said, that the strong voluntary societies are essential in a continuing democracy. This, however, does not mean that one should not discriminate. One would not ordinarily consider, for example, that a society for the propagation of healthy yellow dogs or monkeys would be nearly as important as a society to promote the health of children. Nor should anyone consider that the sup-

Inaugural Meeting of Municipal Council Held Monday Night

Members Took Oath of Office At 11.00 a.m. — Lengthy Session At Night

Naming of standing committees for the year, making appointments to the various municipal bodies and discussion of routine matters marked the inaugural meeting of Village Council on Monday.

Members of Council took the oath of office at 11.00 a.m. Monday morning after which Reeve J. V. Holt gave his inaugural address in which he welcomed the new members of Council and asked for the co-operation of the Councillors in carrying out the affairs of the Village. The sewerage project would have to be considered by the 1958 Council, stated the Reeve, who also urged that members of Council give wholehearted support to the Centennial in August.

Clerk Mallory tabled a letter from the Department of Welfare that 80% subsidy would be paid for persons qualifying for direct relief in the municipality. He also reported receipt of a cheque for $205.90 being sewerage fees collected by the Public Utilities from the Wartime Housing Project on North St.

Night Session

At the evening session, which opened at seven o'clock, all members of Council, K. Ray, W. L. Pollock, A. Packman and H. R. Tompkins, were present with Reeve J. V. Holt in the chair.

Charles Davidson waited upon Council relative to an increase in the salary paid for garbage collection to $2100 and Foster Wanamaker asked for an increase in his salary as roads superintendent and payment for use of his truck. The former pointed out that the amount of garbage had increased considerably and wages of helpers had increased.

Clerk Mallory tabled a letter from C. Fraser, Assistant to the Deputy Minister of Highways relative to prohibiting parking on North Street 100 feet from the intersection and on Mill Street 50 ft. from the intersection.

On motion it was decided to join the Good Roads Association and pay $30.00 towards expenses of each delegate.

Resignation Accepted

The resignation of D. R. Patterson from the Library Board was tabled and on motion of Councillors Tompkins and Ray was accepted and Clerk Mallory instructed to write Mr. Patterson thanking him for his years of service.

Advance On Requisition To Public School

Edwin Warren, Chairman of Finance on the Public School Board waited upon Council requesting an advance of $8,000 on the 1958 requisition to cover current expenses, of the Board until the Legislative grants were received; payment of the above amount to be in three instalments, three thousand in January and twenty-five hundred in February and March.

On motion of Councillors Ray and Pollock the request was granted with the Board to furnish Council with a financial statement of the 1957 business.

Jack Kane lodged a complaint with Council in connection with a truck being parked on Mill St. in such a manner that the platform extended over the centre of the street, thereby contributing to an accident in which a truck owned by him was involved. Council agreed, with Reeve Holt pointing out that there were plenty of parking areas in town where trucks with platforms of unusual length could be parked at no risk to traffic. The Constable will be instructed to check up on trucks parking in an improper manner.

Clive White was appointed to the Stirling Public Library Board to complete D. R. Patterson's term, and Councillor Ken Ray was reappointed Representative to the Lake Ontario Development Association.

The painting of the interior of the Fire Hall was discussed and it was agreed that it should be done before the new fire pumper arrives. The Property Committee was authorized to have the work done by M. Porritt at a price of $100.

The matter of installing suitable gates at the entrance to the Stirling Cemetery was discussed and left in the hands of the Cemetery Committee to decide the type of gates to be installed.

Local Brigade Hosts To Visiting Firemen

Stirling firemen played hosts to firemen from municipalities associated with the Mutual Aid Fire Brigades Association of Prince Edward and Hastings Counties at a meeting held in the Stirling Community Hall Tuesday night.

Reeve J. V. Holt extended a welcome to the visiting firemen and Acting President Carl Bateman of the Stirling Rotary Club announced that the resuscitator purchased by the Rotary Club would be on display later in the evening.

Fire Chief Vance, of Belleville, co-ordinator of the Mutual Aid in Hastings and Prince Edward Counties, congratulated Stirling on acquiring such a splendid pumper, which was on display in front of the hall. Stirling now has sufficient equipment to protect the taxpayers and aid your neighbors.

Referring to mutual aid Fire Chief Vance stated all calls for assistance in time of fire must be relayed through the switch board at the Belleville Fire Chief's Office in order that the co-ordinator could dispatch equipment to stand by in the municipality giving such aid.

Following the election of officers and a demonstration on the use of the resuscitator, refreshments were served and a social hour enjoyed.

Mr. and Mrs. Dalrymple Given Farewell By County Organizations

Hastings County farm organizations bid farewell to A. O. Dalrymple, Agricultural Representative and Mrs. Dalrymple at a get-together held in the Stirling Theatre on Thursday night. In a return engagement at Campbellford on Tuesday night they gained their third victory by a 5 to 3 score. Fred Palmer, with 2 goals, and R. Smith, M. Reid and D. Fairies with one each were the goalgetters.

Thrilling Episode Following Collision Between Cars

Residents in the immediate vicinity of E. Warren's garage witnessed a thrilling episode Saturday afternoon when a car driven by W. H. Carleton, of Cobourg, was involved in an accident with another vehicle driven by Clarence Finch, of Campbellford.

According to Constable Eggleton the Carleton car was north-bound on No. 33 Highway when at the intersection with Front Street it was in collision with a west-bound car driven by Clarence Finch, of Campbellford.

The force of the impact swung the Carleton car to the left out of control. It sideswiped Glen Clarke's car parked on the garage lot, hit the corner of Warren's garage, crossed Highway No. 33, went over the cement step in front of Strickland's store, through the fence and back across the road to the garage where it crashed a light standard alongside the gasoline pump and made two complete circuits before coming to rest in Mrs. White's yard on the east side of Frankford Road.

Property damage is estimated at one thousand dollars. Thos. Conley, a passenger in the Finch car suffered a broken nose as a result of the accident.

Mrs. Glenn Morrow was hostess and Mrs. Ernest Carr opened the meeting with "O Canada." Mrs. Phil Conley was pianist.

Mrs. J. R. Donohoe gave her report and read the thank-you letters. Plans were made for an open meeting in February and an extra committee appointed.

The Friendship Link Secretary, Mrs. Percy MacMullen, displayed the greetings received from Abbot's Printed reports of Abbot's Leigh W.I. November Annual and Birthday Party held in December were on display; also the A.C.W.W. special greeting from London, England.

Programme

The programme centred around "Community Activities and Public Relations" under the convener'ship of Mrs. Jack Bush and Mrs. Stanley Trven, proved of interest.

Miss Adeline Bush read a paper on the motto, "Your community is the reflection of the majority of your homes." This pointed out the value of social gatherings both for children and adults.

Mr. John Chard very kindly showed his series of pictures taken on his recent trip overseas. The scenes began with the steamship on the St. Lawrence River, the voyage across the ocean, the various historic places in Scotland, North Wales and England, the rugged and beautiful country side, the paved winding country roads, various scenes at Stratford-on-Avon, the home of Shakespeare, the English gardens and homes with their picturesque landscaping, scenes in London England, changing the guard at Buckingham Palace and then across to Paris, France; Austria and Switzerland. John also gave a brief description of his visit to Mrs. N. Coombs, Abbot's Leigh, and of their interest in River Valley Women's Institute.

Mrs. Ralph Utman voiced appreciative thanks for the enjoyable travelogue.

Mrs. Glenn Brooks delighted with two vocal selections.

Mrs. Gerald Brooks gave an interesting paper on "Current Events." She dealt with amusing local items and then told important data from farther afield and closed with a poem, "God Bless This Year."

Mr. Jack Bush conducted a sing-song and the meeting closed with the National Anthem.

The hostess and committee served bountiful refreshments and all enjoyed a social half hour.

De Veau -- Bishop White Wedding Enhanced Rites

An all-white wedding highlighted the ceremony Saturday evening, January 4th in the First Presbyterian Church, Lockport, N.Y., when Miss Barbara Bailey Bishop became the bride of Donald David De Veau. Dr. Stephen E. Palmer officiated at the candlelight service.

The setting was enhanced by white poinsettias at the chancel table, seven branch candelabra, and pine roping throughout the church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alan F. Bishop, 451 Pine St., Lockport, N.Y. Mrs. Harry R. De Veau, Port Chester, and the late Mr. De Veau are the parents of the groom.

Father Gives Bride

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white Dupioni silk fashioned with a scoop neckline, the yoke of chantilly lace, accented with iridescent sequins, and long sleeves, pointed over the wrists. The bouffant skirt fell to a chapel-length train. She wore a rhinestone heart-shaped necklace with chain, gift of the groom.

A crown of white silk leaves and pearls held her fingertip veil of silk illusion. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses and white camellias.

The bride chose Miss Doris Urlacher as her maid of honour. Bridesmaids were the Misses Shirley Miller, Warsaw; Sheila Hearon, Johnson City; and Brenda Ulrich. The Misses Urlacher, Hearon and Miller were sorority sisters of the bride at Alfred State University.

All of the bride's attendants wore identical gowns of white peau de sole with sweetheart necklines and full cocktail-length skirts, the draped backs of the gowns ending in large bows at the waistline. Their attire was complemented by crowns of pearl-beaded white velvet leaves and flowers with shoulder-length veils. They carried snowballs of white 'mums pierced with red sequins.

Groom's Attendants

Clair Fox, Canandaigua, was best man.

The guests were seated by F. Corson Castle Jr., cousin of the bride; Richard J. De Veau, G. Peter Widger, Ellicottville, and Dana K. Bass, of Gowanda. Mr. Box, Mr. Widger and Mr. Mass were fraternity brothers of the groom at Alfred.

Mrs. Robert C. Bishop, aunt of the bride, played the wedding music. Frederick William De Veau, Syracuse, brother of the groom, was soloist.

Mrs. Bishop favored a peacock blue silk dress, red accessories and a rose camellia corsage for her daughter's wedding. The groom's mother chose an American beauty red Italian silk dress, black velvet accessories and a white camellia corsage.

The Oriental Room at the Park Hotel was the setting for the reception following the ceremony. The bride's table was centered with a five-tiered wedding cake, topped with a miniature bouquet like that of the bride, flanked by bouquets of poinsettias and candelabra. A lighted memory candle, a gift to the bride, further decorated the table.

Assisting at the reception were the Misses Charlotte Witte, Rose Anne Vandervoort, Stirling, Ont., cousin of the bride; Betty Maka and Deanne Dillon, sorority sisters of the bride.

Background music was furnished by Mrs. Patrick J. Madriska.

As the bride left for their trip to New York City, she was wearing a shrimp sack dress, black and white feather hat, black accessories and a corsage of white 'mums with black and silver puffs.

Out-of-town guests were from Toronto and Stirling, Ont.; Buffalo, Rochester, Syracuse, Schenectady and Port Chester.

Men have been known to cultivate a friend in the hope that they might raise a loan.

You can't expect people to see their own faults when there are so many others around.

A man must have a lot of patience if he expects greatness to be thrust upon him.

Springbrook W.A.

About sixty people sat down to a pot luck dinner in the basement of Springbrook United Church on Thursday, January 9th, with Mrs. Delbert Fleming and Mrs. Reg McKeown as hostesses. Proceeds from the dinner amounted to $30.75.

Following the dinner at 2:00 o'clock 21 members of the Woman's Association assembled for their regular meeting. The President, Mrs. Carman Sine in charge opened the meeting with the theme song, theme prayer and W.A. prayer.

The devotional period was conducted by Mrs. Gordon Webb, the theme being, "The Abundant Life." The Scripture taken from Matthew 2: 1-12 was read by Mrs. Murney Mason. Psalm 119 was read responsively, led by Mrs. Reg McKeown. The theme thoughts were read by Mrs. Ed. Bateman, followed by a prayer for our Missionary, Miss Gould, by Mrs. Beare. The devotional closed with the Lord's prayer.

The roll call "Something you would like repeated on the 1953 programs," was responded to with several good suggestions handed in. The members reported 11 calls made and 31 cards sent. Correspondence read included 4 thank-yous and literature on the World Day of Prayer on February 21st. Mrs. Delbert Fleming reported for the December visiting committee.

It was agreed to continue a monthly visiting committee again for the new year, using the calling cards. Mrs. C. Sine and Mrs. K. Thompson volunteered to act on this committee for January. Special Missionary envelopes were distributed among the members for use in their Missionary project.

The treasurer, Mrs. F. Cosbey, gave the financial report of the catering to the Elaine Shoe Factory banquet on December 13th.

A short discussion on new built-in cupboards in the basement followed with Mrs. Delbert Fleming, Mrs. Reg McKeown and Mrs. Kenneth Thompson to act as a committee to make enquiries re estimates.

Programme

The topic, "New Year's," was taken by Mrs. Clayton Burkitt. Readings were given by Mrs. Gordon Bateman, Mrs. Frank Cosbey and Mrs. Harry Haslett.

The president moved a vote of thanks to the hostesses for the day and the meeting closed with the Mizpah Benediction.

The February meeting will be in the same manner with a pot luck dinner at noon. Hostesses will be Mrs. Fred McKeown and Mrs. Florence McKeown.

A Traveller's Note Book

It was the east wind that reminded me of a book all about winter. It has something to say about the Traveller's Winter; the Soldier's Winter; Poet's Winter; God and Mary's Winter, and the Sportsman's Winter. Worth reading. The Soldier's Winter introduces us to the great discoverer of "Mass-Assassination" Napoleon, and the snows of Russia where men carved off pieces of horse flesh but could not keep pace with the freezing weather which froze it stiff before they could eat it.

We think we know what a real winter can be, but we are mistaken. It seems. There was a day when the Black Sea was frozen over and the walls of Constantinople destroyed by the thaw. That was in 763. Then in 860 there was a six month frost and the Adriatic Sea was frozen. In 1332 the Mediterranean Sea entirely froze, believe it or not. Personally I would not, but I don't want to spoil the story.

The "Sportsman's Winter" is most interesting to me, and naturally so because it helps me to believe a story of local happenings. It seems that during our recent cold weather (last week, I mean) and way up the river, the water was so cold that a number of eels crept out of the river and took shelter in the summer cottage of a friend who was away in Michigan. At least, that is what he told me. Again, believe it or not.

I do not find it difficult to believe that in 1544 frozen wine was sold by weight in Paris.

A Hunting

We Won't Go

However, one can only judge these things by reference to one's own experience. I have seldom joined in the wretched discomforts of the hunt. I could never understand why it is that otherwise reasonable men are prepared to stand their own cooking (since they no doubt mean a good deal if wifey slips up on a chop at home) and the long waiting all on their own.

down a drift as they stand or wait for hours hoping a buck won't come their way. But as I say, experience tells, so, I once followed the hunt. I stood, I waited. In camp I drank the most wretched coffee, at least it was supposed to be coffee, it looked like tea, it tasted like cocoa, but it was coffee. I could take that. But the cooking! I remember quite clearly the cooking and how I wondered why ever I left home, more so when it came to the cold while waiting. I stood there it seemed for hours, then, along came a bull, I raised by rifle and took a line on that bull, but the weather was so cold that my hand froze to the stock of my rifle and just as I was about to pull the trigger I raised by head and so caused the rifle to jump upward and thus deflected the bullet. That was the biggest bull I had ever shot, needless to say I have been shooting that one ever since!

Fun With

The Stars

From time immemorial the stars have meant a great deal to men. The "Wise" were guided by a star to Bethlehem. Stars have always guided men and they have safely travelled the world by the light of them, even the humble reader of a newspaper gets the benefit of this study. I refer to the Horoscope. This, as you will know, or do you? is a scheme or figure of the twelve house or signs of the zodiac, in which is marked the disposition of the heavens at a given time. The study of this in connection with the time of your birth will reveal to you your future and your fortune. The houses are named Capricorn to Sagittarius, the former for January, the latter for December. My study of the stars suggests for those born between December 19th and January 20th that "they will make progress today but there may be the danger because of mild weather of tempers getting frayed. Every effort should be made to avoid shock tactics, pumpkin pie, running around in circles or doing any hard work."

As a horoscope artist, I now find myself confronted with the task of fitting the new house of Sputniks into the scheme of things. I hardly know where to put it but will certainly reserve it for those born between December 31st and January 1st. As to its place in the heavens, I must consult Washington.

PHAROS

WISEGUYS

Frank Clair, coach of the Ottawa Rough Riders, took time out from his busy football schedule to address several hundred teen-age cyclists in Ottawa recently. It is easy to believe the youngsters paid attention.

Coach Clair is reported in the Ottawa Journal as saying in part:

"If there is one thing we don't like on the football field, it's a 'wiseguy'—someone who thinks he knows everything. Now you can get wiseguys on bicycles too. If you come across one—don't go along with him."

"The best player on the field is the disciplined one. It applies just the same to the cyclist."

What Others Say I

CLUTTERING UP SCHOOLS

(Kingston Whig-Standard)

A good many school children should be either in some technical institution or at work. There is no virtue in keeping them at academic work where they only clutter up the school rooms and hold back pupils who want to get on. The school-leaving age of sixteen is not a divine law — it is merely an arbitrarily chosen figure.

RE-EDUCATING EDUCATION

(Ridgetown Dominion)

Dr. W. J. Dunlop, Minister of Education for Ontario, has announced his intention to return education to the elementary and secondary schools of the Province. As reported in the press, "education" was not the word used by the Minister. "Competition" was the word used. When the practice of test examination was largely eliminated a few years ago there was also eliminated much of the incentive to acquire knowledge. The desire to shine is inherent in human nature. So is the impulse to be lazy. The opportunity to shine at examination time had a counteracting effect on laziness, because the pupil could not have both.

With the competition features practically eliminated and the abandonment of the "hickory stick" principle as an aid to acquirement of knowledge, the impulse to laziness seems to have flourished and universities have been complaining that freshman classes are becoming more and more deficient in elementary preparation. Of course there is always a tendency to exaggerate both the good and the bad in any system, but books such as "So Little for the Mind" and magazine articles with such titles as "Why Johnny Cannot Read" are not written, published, and read without justification.

There is nation-wide complaint about the high cost of so-called education which, like living itself, is held to cost more than it's worth. A very large part of this cost today is the cost of show and frills. A very large part of school building costs is due to features other than classroom accommodation and teaching equipment. The school is no longer a workshop where one serves his apprenticeship to life. It has become a pleasant place to shop and the customer does not have to buy unless he feels like it.

If the old school system was so bad as it is claimed to have been we wonder whence came the giant intellects of the past — the statesmen, the writers, the inventors, scientists, and so on to an infinity of names.

Hon. W. J. Dunlop is not a tyro in educational matters. He has been an active and prominent educationalist all his life, from public school teaching on up — and we are quite certain that the elementary school in which he acquired his early learning was not equipped with all (or any) of the folderols that are considered essentials today.

It is easy enough to indulge in wholesale condemnation, which to some extent may be unfair. Doubtless some of these alleged improvements are valuable adjuncts to the fundamental preparation for adult existence. There is a widespread feeling, however, that the adjuncts are crowding out the fundamentals — have almost done so, in fact. The universities are not altogether free of the virus, either.

We saw recently an item to the effect that the University of Illinois proposes to erect a $7,500,000 building, not for academic use, but solely for basketball. Coaches draw higher salaries than professors in some cases.

It is interesting to see that many teachers have received Dr. Dunlop's announcement with enthusiasm. It is to be hoped he will restore at least the good features of the education that was prevalent in the old red brick schoolhouse that the pupils even in those benighted days had wit enough to chasten "Pondview Academy."

Some men find it awfully hard to impress others with the importance of their importance.

Just about the time a man begins to think he knows it all he cuts another wisdom tooth.

Ont. Diocesan Woman's Auxiliary January Meeting

The first meeting of the year of the Ontario Diocesan Woman's Auxiliary was held on January 6th, the Feast of the Epiphany, in St. Paul's Parish Hall, Kingston, and the Rev. T. H. Good led in the opening prayers.

Miss Winifred Burns, Diocesan President, gave a welcome to all present.

This year a book is to be passed at each monthly meeting in which each member present will write her name and the branch she represents. Letters were read from the Dominion President, Treasurer and Supervisor of Girls' Work, outlining the needs for 1958 and the scope of the work to be done.

The report of Mrs. J. R. Thompson, Treasurer, told of all pledges having been paid by the branches throughout the Diocese, and of a proposed increase to be met this year. Mrs. G. H. Estford, Educational Secretary, reported increased sales in church calendars and literature. Mrs. E. Grant, Dorcas Secretary-Treasurer, brought to the meeting the Communion spoon which the W.A. has given the hospital chaplain to use in cases of very ill patients. The handle ends with the Winchester Cross symbol of the W.A.

Due to illness, Mrs. Bruce Hall has had to give up her work in the Social Service department and Miss Constance Fraser who has had training in this work, has consented to carry on. Business closed with the singing of "All For Jesus."

Mrs. K. C. Evans introduced the speaker, Mrs. A. E. Coleman, Vice-President of Eastern Canada, and Dominion Secretary of the United Thank Offering.

Her talk was a complete coverage of W.A. work and her enthusiasm was inspiring. She said that the W.A. was the first national women's organization in Canada, formed by pioneer women who were praying women. She summed up all departments of W.A. work briefly — to pray, to learn, to work, to give. W.A. workers should realize that they are handmaidens of the Church to spread the Gospel.

Mrs. Good extended heartfelt thanks to Mrs. Coleman for her practical and inspirational talk and Miss Burns closed the meeting with prayer.

A social time followed when the St. Paul's Branch served a delightful cup of tea, thus affording an opportunity for many to speak with Mrs. Coleman.

Sometimes a man gets a reputation for courage by not getting frightened until it is too late to run.

Beautiful memories she left behind. —Sadly missed by her husband George, Oscar and Irene, Bob and Frances. 52-1p

Belcour -- Reynolds Wedding In St.
Paul's United Church

Two tall decorated Christmas trees and yellow chrysanthemums formed a lovely setting in St. Paul's United Church, Stirling, at high noon, Saturday, December 28th, 1957, when Janet Dorothea, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward George Reynolds, of Stirling, became the bride of Mr. Kenneth Glenn Belcour, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Charles Belcour, of Belleville. Small sprays of evergreen and red satin bows designated the guest pews. The Reverend Arthur Packman officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

Miss Grace Pitman presided at the organ and accompanied the soloist, Mr. William Reynolds, uncle of the bride, who sang "The Lord's Prayer" before the ceremony and "Where'er You Walk" during the signing of the register.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was beautifully gowned in ballerina length white nylon over tulle and satin, having a lace bodice with bateau neckline and short sleeves. Matching lace gloves ending in points over the hands were worn. A lace panel circling the full skirt dipped slightly on either side and in the back and front. A pillbox style hat of lace, sequins and rhinestones held her shoulder-length veil of tulle and she carried a white Bible crested with red Sweetheart roses and white satin streamers knotted with red rosebuds.

The two bridesmaids were Miss Carolyn Belcour, Belleville, sister of the groom, and Miss Ellen Mitz, of Ivanhoe, cousin of the bride. Both were attired alike in ballerina-length powder blue lace over satin with three-quarter length sleeves and rounded, scalloped necklines. They wore powder blue feather headresses, white gloves and carried crescent shaped bouquets of pink carnations.

Linda Datoe, cousin of the groom, was flower girl, dressed in pink nylon with matching headress and gloves and carried a basket of red and white chrysanthemums. Robert Reynolds, brother of the bride, was ring-bearer, carrying the rings on a white satin cushion.

Mr. Larry Mitz, Ivanhoe, cousin of the bride, was groomsmen, while Mr. Gerald Irvine, Holloway, and Mr. Bob Thompson, Brighton, were ushers.

The wedding reception held at the Church Parlours, was catered to by St. Paul's W.A. The bride's table was centered with the three-tier wedding cake, topped with a tiny basket of pink roses and misted about the base with pink tulle. Pink and white tapers and the bridal bouquets added a

ADVICE TO YOUNGSTERS

We have a room in our basement, full of well-stuffed chairs, a beat-up Toronto couch, and a chesterfield we bought when first married — plus a 4-year-old TV set.

At first, I suppose it was TV that drew us together in this comfortable room. Now the set is off most of the time, but the family still gathers to chat, loaf or read. Last night, in a moment of quiet, Sal read aloud a few words that started a lecture from Dad.

"This sounds like you or Gramma," Sal said. "Gilbert Highet says a person ought to memorize something every day, and then when he's waiting for a bus or riding a train or has an idle moment, he has something good on his mind instead of just gawking."

That started my lecture. Oddly enough, the kids enjoyed it. I'm sure they did, because when we were having our late snack, Sal said, "Go on, Dad... you're really interesting... better than TV!" Kids now-days aren't given to idly flattering their parents, so the fact that no one disagreed with Sal encourages me to pass on the gist of my lecture.

I told them about the difficult times fellows like me had in the depression.

— how a thousand times I remembered something my father had written to me in a letter. He'd said, "Every locomotive has a sandbox and when the tracks get slippery on a hill, the engineer uses some of the sand. Every person has some sand in his makeup, in the form of character, and the time to use it is when things seem difficult. Just don't give up. Use some sand." I can still see those words in his handwriting as if I were only now reading them, and I hope my youngsters will remember them too.

I recited to my children something I read in the paper the other day. It said, "Neither Sputnik or Muttick can destroy a poem, an act of kindness, or the satisfaction a man gets from giving more to the world than he expects from it."

My son piped up, "There is a danger that we are raising a generation of youngsters who enjoy shooting at sitting ducks, or delight in taking home from the hunt more birds than they brought down with their own guns."

"Hey," I said, "that's the point. Did you make that up?"

He grinned and help up a copy of a Sports magazine. "Read it ten minutes ago — right here."

"Memorize it," I told him, "and remember it. Next time you're tempted to feel sorry for yourself, it'll pop up in your mind."

I am convinced that if every youngster in Canada started life with a determination to do more than his share but ask less than his share, we'd build a nation stronger and greater than the world has known. Unfortunately, too many crackpots are spouting a text that puts reverse English on that truth. And the strange thing about it is they claim to be idealists, and sometimes get away with it!

Tolls On Welland Canal Would Harm Ontario Industry

If tolls are charged for ships passing through the Welland Canal, their cost will affect every industry in Ontario, Stuart Armour, economic adviser, The Steel Company of Canada, Limited, told the Windsor Rotary Club recently.

Mr. Armour said that, since 1904, all Canadian inland waterways had been toll-free. The present Welland Ship Canal, completed in 1932, has never had tolls levied upon cargoes passing through it.

The great industrial growth of Ontario, the speaker said, has centered on heavy industry. "It is axiomatic that you cannot have heavy industry unless you have a basic steel industry; and it is no accident that the industrial growth of Ontario, and the progress of all Canada, have both been based on steel made in this province."

"Ontario today produces more than three-quarters of all Canadian steel, and most of it is consumed within this province. Hence virtually everything that is produced by Ontario's great and growing industrial complex is affected by the availability, the quality and the price of steel made in this province... Anything that raises steel prices directly affects all heavy industry in Ontario, and in the long run indirectly affects the price of virtually every article produced in this province."

Mr. Armour also said that the three integrated steel mills in Ontario, which together produce more than three-quarters of the country's steel, were located on the Upper Lakes navigation system, at Hamilton and Sault Ste. Marie, because of the availability of water-borne coal and limestone and iron ore, which have passed through the whole of the Upper Lakes Navigation System toll-free ever since 1902.

When the United States agreed to join with Canada in the construction of the St. Lawrence Seaway, she did so on the understanding, Mr. Armour said, that tolls should be collected to cover construction, maintenance costs and operation of the Seaway proper, the section of the St. Lawrence from Iroquois, Ont., to Montreal. There was never in Washington's mind any idea that the Welland Canal, always toll-free, would be included in the Seaway for toll purposes.

The Welland Canal, at its present depth, Mr. Armour said, is suitable for the industries now using it, whose ships have been designed for that depth. Deepening of the canal for the use of ocean-going traffic would bring no advantage to present users, and it seemed unfair to saddle them with the cost of the deepening.

Another danger to industry that Mr. Armour saw in the proposal to collect Welland Canal tolls lay in the fact that the Ontario Hydro had recently announced the building of two new steam electric plants, which would depend on coal. Thus tolls on coal traffic would be passed on to users of electricity. A further danger lay in the fact that, if Canada imposed tolls for the Welland Canal, the United States might consider putting tolls on the canal at Sault Ste. Marie. Thus every industry in the Great Lakes area of Canada and the United States has an interest in the matter.

Mr. Armour closed his address by urging the business men of his audience to study the question and inform and arouse public opinion about what he termed a real peril to the national economy.

provider, will become completely dependent upon his family. The housewife — who needs both arms and legs to take care of family and house — also is a prime target of this great crippling disease.

However, with proper treatment at an early date, arthritic crippling can be prevented in 70 per cent of the cases.

This treatment consists of a combination of physiotherapy, rest, diet, and drug therapy.

Physiotherapy consists of special exercises designed to prevent the muscles near the affected joint from withering and becoming useless. Many of these exercises can be undertaken at home with the co-operation of the patient's family.

Rest and diet are prescribed by the patient's physician to meet his specific needs.

Drug therapy also can be adjusted to meet the needs of the patient. The physician may choose between a number of potent drugs now available, including gold compounds, aspirin, ACTH, cortisone, hydrocortisone, and prednisone and the newest anti-arthritic agent, Deltacortril.

Deltacortril offers new hope for the arthritic victim. Clinical trials have shown it to be three to five times more potent than either cortisone or hydrocortisone, with notable freedom from side effects often seen with the other drugs.

With proper treatment, the farmer, factory worker or carpenter, need not give up his trade after a bout with arthritis. He may not be able to resume heavy labor, but he certainly can lead an active, useful life.

Most important, his family need not be destroyed by the crippling effects of rheumatoid arthritis.

Rehabilitation Partly Medical -- Partly Social Says Doctor

Through concentration on rehabilitation techniques as a separate branch of medical practice, a great deal has been learned during recent years on the correction of physical handicaps and the re-establishment of the handicapped person into normal channels of living, according to a statement by Dr. F. P. Dewar, Chairman of the Medical Advisory Committee of the March of Dimes.

A good sign in recent years has been the interest among medical students in this branch of medicine. Many of them plan to specialize in rehabilitation procedures, thus filling a large gap in many Ontario communities.

"A Center like the Rusk Center in New York points the way to practical and effective means of overcoming physical disabilities. Industry, too, has changed its thinking in recent years, with many business leaders accepting as employees handicapped persons who have been trained in certain fields," he stated.

Dr. Dewar illustrated his remarks with two examples. He described a disabled farm worker who limped badly because of a deformity in one foot as a result of polio. "Correcting this defective foot was a simple matter, involving only simple surgery and special shoes. The big problem here was a social one — getting the man re-established on a farm so he could become independent." This part of the programme was equally important with the medical side, since the end result is what is important in rehabilitation.

The second example was at the other extreme — a case which called for the provision of special equipment, and a long programme of physiotherapy, the entire programme covering several years and a relatively large expenditure. An ex-naval officer and a chemical engineer, this young father was badly disabled by polio in 1953. Since this time, he has made remarkable recovery, but still requires daily physiotherapy treatments, and has not yet reached the point where he can accomplish any more than very limited physical tasks.

"Tremendous progress has been made in the field of rehabilitation of the disabled," Dr. Dewar stated. "Fortunately, the public has responded with good financial backing through the March of Dimes. As a result, we have accomplished a great deal, not only in the number of cases that have been rehabilitated, but in creating interest in both the public and in members of the medical profession itself. Both these groups are starting to realize the tremendous potential in the field of practical rehabilitation procedures."

"During the past year, two rehabilitation symposiums have been conducted for members of the medical profession by the March of Dimes. Both were addressed by famous authorities on various aspects of rehabilitation, and were attended by medical men and women from almost every Canadian province. Interest created at these symposiums has contributed greatly to the solution of the problems of handicapped persons," Dr. Dewar stated.

The Bible Today

(From C. R. Rudd)

The unprecedented demand for Bibles today has placed a tremendous burden on the British and Foreign Bible Society, it is reported from headquarters in London, England.

Despite the fact that more Scriptures are printed on overseas mission fields than ever before, the number sent out from London has more than doubled in the past two years.

In 1955 the British and Foreign Bible Society dispatched from London a total of 1,259,481 New Testaments and Gospel portions in the first six months of the year. In 1957 the figure for the same period was 2,674,910 volumes.

Production of the British and Foreign Bible Society has increased six times over in the past ten years, and the demand for next year is even greater.

When people are fond of airing others' faults it usually means their own are on the shady side.

It's possible to find something good about every man — even if it's his own opinion of himself.

It's probably true that the average man would be satisfied with enough — but he never gets it.

VARIED PROGRAMME FOR SOIL AND CROP CONVENTION

In keeping with the theme of this year's convention of the Ontario Soil and Crop Improvement Association — "Futurama of Agriculture" — there will be several interesting addresses by practical farmers and outstanding authorities on the subject. Dr. Richard D. Jones, guest speaker at the annual banquet, will speak on "The Tiller of the Soil," Eugene Lemon, of Stouffville, will give an illustrated talk on "What Tile Drains are Doing for Me;" "New Fertilizers for Modern Farming" will be discussed by Kenneth Pretty of Michigan State University; Prof. N. R. Richards, Head of the Soils Department, Ontario Agricultural College, will speak on "The Ratio System of Fertilizer Recommendations," and Don Middleton, of Middlesex County, will give some timely advice on "Rights-of-Way Settlement Hints."

There will also be an illustrated address by Dr. W. E. Tossell, Ontario Agricultural College, on "Grassland Management in Europe;" Tom Green, of Denfield, will speak on "Farm Planning Doubled the Productivity of my Farm," and "Fertilizer Placement is Important" will be the subject dealt with by Dr. W. L. Nelson, Lafayette, Indiana.

This year's annual convention is being held January 29th to 31st with daytime meetings at the Coliseum, Exhibition Park, Toronto, and evening meetings in the King Edward Hotel. Complete programmes may be obtained from the offices of Agricultural Representatives or from the Field Crops Branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

450 AT SHORT COURSES

Approximately 450 farmers from all parts of Ontario enrolled for the winter short course recently at the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph. Instruction in marketing and co-operation was especially for agricultural and co-operative organizations. Other courses were designed for agricultural mechanics, rural electrification, tractors and farm machinery. There were other programmes for livestock breeders and soils and land use.

ONTARIO WHEAT PRODUCERS TO TAKE VOTE

Ontario wheat producers were praised in a joint statement issued by the Ontario Federation of Agriculture and the United Co-operatives of Ontario for taking initiative in holding a vote on January 17th.

The vote which is under the supervision of the Ontario Department of Agriculture and the Government Marketing Board will decide whether producers want to have a marketing board. The plans provide for an annual negotiation of prices between producers, processors and dealers.

"Producers of wheat in Ontario should take advantage of this opportunity to express their opinion at the polls on January 17th," the statement from the two province-wide farm organizations urges. "Holding a vote is the democratic basis upon which all our marketing boards are established."

In seven Counties, Essex, Kent, Lambton, Middlesex, Elgin, Huron and Oxford, there must be a minimum of 51 per cent of the eligible voters cast a "yes" vote. In the remainder of the province, 51 per cent of those registering at the polling booth during the election must indicate their support of the plan.

Polls will be opened on January 17th, and for those who are unable to get to the polls on that date, some polls will be held open throughout the following week of January 20th to 24th.

CULLING THE LAYING FLOCK

Since non-laying hens are kept at the expense of good layers, a whole flock may be kept at a loss if culling is not practised. E. D. J. Walter of the Canada Department of Agriculture, says a mature hen will require approximately 25 to 30 cents worth of feed in one month whether she is laying or not.

No two flocks are alike from the standpoint of breeding, feeding and management. Poorly bred flocks require more rigid culling than flocks bred for high egg production. In the feeding and management field the old rule, "feed for egg production and then cull," still applies. It is easy to eliminate the loafers from a well fed flock but in a flock poorly fed it is almost impossible to judge by appearance what a bird would be capable of producing if given the essential feed nutrients for high production.

Weak, under-developed pullets should be culled at housing time. The only culling necessary the first few weeks after housing should be sick birds or birds that are off in condition and will obviously not lay enough eggs to be profitable. From December through the remainder of the laying year the amount of culling that should be done will depend upon the relation of feed costs and egg prices.

Feed costs and the current market value of eggs determine the level of production required to yield a profit. A poor producer may be profitable when eggs are worth 50 cents a dozen, but will be kept at a loss when eggs are only worth 30 cents a dozen.

JOINT DAIRY BREEDS COUNCIL APPROVES R.O.P. CHANGES

At a meeting of the Joint Dairy Breeds Council in Toronto, December 9th, 1957, approval was given to certain changes in Record of Performance for Registered Dairy Cattle.

These include 305-day records and Breed Class Indexes on all cows milking 240 days or more. This involves abolition of the requirement that cows calve again within 425 days of calving at start of lactation.

A second feature is the recording and publication on certificates of the entire milk and fat production of the entire lactation regardless of length. All records from 1952 on are included on certificate and a total of all production to date is shown.

A further change has been to have fees paid for twelve months' service instead of for a testing year ending April 30th. This provides for a more equitable method of paying fees.

The Joint Dairy Breeds Committee passed a motion strongly commending the R.O.P. service officials for these improvements.

BUTTER INDUSTRY

Dairy specialist, D. B. Goodwillie told the Ontario Creamerymen's Association at their annual convention in Toronto, that the future of the butter industry in Canada will depend to a large extent on how those engaged adjust to the ever changing conditions both in production and marketing. Mr. Goodwillie is Head of the Merchandising Section of the Dairy Products Division, Canada Department of Agriculture.

Economic conditions have forced smaller plants to close or amalgamate into larger units, and according to Mr. Goodwillie this trend is likely to continue. It has been accelerated during the past year, he said, due to shortages and high prices for dry skim milk early in 1957 and the present Support Board's Purchase Programme for this product. As a result an increasingly larger part of Ontario's butter production is originating in whole milk creameries.

Mr. Goodwillie mentioned that continuous-made butter, especially the unsalted type, has been well accepted in most markets and pointed out that there are now eight continuous butter making machines in Canada, located in Prince Edward Island, Quebec, Ontario, Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta. He suggested there may be others in operation by this time next year.

A comparatively new dairy product, butter oil, is gradually becoming more acceptable in Canada and according to Mr. Goodwillie it is quite possible the market for this product will expand in the future.

Commenting on the butter production-consumption relationship in Canada, Mr. Goodwillie told the creamerymen that production must be increased in 1958 if the present rate of consumption is to be met. It is estimated he said, that Canada's production of creamery butter in 1958 might well exceed the record year of 1955 which will mean that production and consumption will likely be in closer balance in the coming year than in 1957.

A BACTERIAL DISEASE OF POTATOES

No method has yet been devised to eliminate the bacterial ring rot organism from the potato seed piece, but according to Dr. D. S. MacLachlan of the Science Service Division of the Canada Department of Agriculture, the disease can be prevented from spreading by the disinfection of all handling equipment and storage bins, and the use of certified or foundation seed.

Bacterial ring rot, an extremely infectious bacterial disease, is possibly the most serious of all potato diseases known today. Infection takes place through the seed piece, the only known way in which infection can occur. There is no evidence that the organism overwinters in the soil or can be spread by any insect. To a large degree the 'cutting knife' is responsible for a high percentage of ring rot infection. As many as 50 to 100 potato sets may be contaminated by the knife following a cut through an infected tuber. For this reason the knife should be dipped in a disinfectant after each potato is cut.

Studies on the extent of disease transmission to potato sets from contaminated bags, indicates that from three to six per cent of ring rot infection may come from this source. This can be eliminated through the use of fumigants and heat treatments, but the search for a more rapid and efficient method of disinfection is continuing.

Over the past three years, research in Ottawa has shown that certain newer type disinfectants are much more effective than older conventional types such as formalin or copper sulphate. These newer materials penetrate more rapidly through lute stains of potato bags and into cracks and splinters of storage rooms. Most of these newer materials such as Teramine, San-o-fee 25 and Ocean 101 are reasonably priced and readily available.

The development of resistant varieties is the obvious solution to the ring rot problem and for several years now research on this aspect of control has been done in both Canada and the United States. The variety Teton, developed a few years ago, and the Merrimac variety, a recent introduction from the United States, both show some resistance to the organism. Unfortunately these varieties are not completely immune to ring rot and therefore present a certain hazard as asymptomatic carriers of the disease.

CONSERVATION NEWS

Fish and Wildlife

Trappers in the Tweed District have been handicapped lately by the heavy rains. Mink sets have been washed away and some beaver traps may not be recovered now until Spring.

Ten out of eleven zones in the Tweed District reported a low mink take. However, Bancroft had an exceptionally good harvest, accounting for nearly half of the total mink to date.

Summary of raw fur harvested as of December 31st: Beaver, 1845; Fisher, 16; Marten, 1; Mink, 873; Otter, 27.

Only the above-mentioned pelts of fur bearing animals are sealed before the trapper may place them on the market. In this way we are able to make an exact count of the harvest.

Musk rats are a very important fur item to trappers in the Tweed District but the only accurate knowledge we have of them is from our Research Project on the Conroy Marsh. Many District trappers were opposed to the heavy trapping pressure we maintained on this marsh, even though the rat population was low. However, 530 rats were harvested this Fall as to 109 rats taken during the previous Fall. This substantiates our findings that trapping pressure has no bearing on the muskrat population.

To some people the deer season has not yet come to a close. Deer poachers are one of the many factors involved in game management, a factor that is not too readily remedied. They are of course, in the minority of men, but cause far more trouble by their scandalous actions. They sneak the quietest but when confronted with our enforcement officers, cry the loudest.

Recently it has become necessary for Conservation Officers to step up their enforcement patrols against deer poachers to an extent where other vital work has had to be placed aside. But it is paying off and we hope that these would-be sportsmen will soon lay down their firearms and wait until open season like all true sportsmen.

On December 15th, four men were apprehended in the Millbridge area for illegal deer hunting (and shooting on Sunday) by officers D. White and R. Davison. Three 30.30 rifles and one 410 shotgun were seized along with a quantity of ammunition. Charges are being laid.

Monday morning, January 6th, Conservation Officer Fred MacDonald phoned the District Office to state that he had a lead on some illegal deer hunting in the Frankford area along the east side of the Trent River and asked for some assistance.

Conservation Officer R. Davison, accompanied by a newly appointed Officer, George Warner, were dispatched to meet Mr. MacDonald near Trenton. Fred is an old hand at this game and with assistance from the other two Officers, soon had two local men rounded up, together with the meat and head from a young buck deer shot the previous day.

Where deer is the subject of the prosecution, the minimum fine is fifty dollars, plus cost.

WHAT IS THE GUIGNOLEE?

The "Guignolee" is the custom of groups of young men, the "Guignoleux," to dress in gay attire and to go from house to house singing and begging for the poor. This is the traditional celebration of French Canada and has been carried on for many years on New Year's Eve. New Year's Day is the time for paying calls on friends and neighbours and for asking the blessing of the head of the family. The early Governors held a public reception or levee for the men of the community on New Year's morning, a custom that has been preserved down to the present day by the Governor-General and by the Lieutenant-Governors.

While the celebration of New Year's Day is of less significance in English Canada than in French Canada, it is a public holiday throughout the whole country. Widespread merry-making begins on New Year's Eve with house parties, dinner dances and special theatre entertainments. A customary feature of the occasion, that suggests the Scottish contribution to the observance, is the singing at midnight of "Auld Lang Syne." This has been handed down from the Scottish celebration of "Hogmanay." Throughout the whole of Canada, New Year's Day is a day for family reunions and for the carrying on of the Christmas festivities.

Stirling W.I. Monthly Meeting

The regular meeting of the Stirling Women's Institute was held on Monday evening. Mrs. Doug Ackers, in her new modern home, John St., welcomed the ladies. There was a splendid attendance, including three visitors.

Occupying the President's chair was Mrs. E. Foster, who conducted the opening exercises.

The prizes for card parties were all donated for which the executive were deeply grateful. The President outlined the work of the quilting and completing two quilts. The last sewing meeting was held at Mrs. W. H. Cooke's with an all-day quilting with a pot luck dinner at supper. This was an accomplishment well worthy of the time spent. Thanks were expressed by several for the Institute remembering them at Christmas time.

The birthday box was again opened for a donation — that of Mrs. Ernest Ward.

Guessing the President's and Secretary's weight was the roll call which evoked much merriment. Mrs. B. Reid had the closest guess with Mrs. D. Montgomery the second. A nice prize was received by the winner.

Evening Programme

Mrs. McMurray looked after the programme for the evening. The singing of the Maple Leaf was followed by the topic, "Community Activities and Public Relations," by the Standing Committee Convenor Mrs. L. Bronson. In part she said: "Community Activities is or should be a subject of keen interest to each and every person in our village and surrounding

STIRLING CENTENNIAL, AUG. 3rd to 6th, 1958

DO YOU KNOW THAT...

Among the treasures being enjoyed by your Centennial Book Committee are records of early education in the village and area.

The original document, dated April 21st, 1847, has been produced. By this agreement, the parents of children attending school signified their willingness to contribute their portion of the teacher's salary in proportion to the number of children representing their household and the number of quarters, each expected to attend. Thirteen men had their signatures recorded and the school was comprised of 28 children. In all probability, this was one of the first opportunities for education — a private school.

By 1884 organization had advanced somewhat and there is carefully preserved the roll book relating the story of the election for school trustees at that time. This was no secret ballot — but rather an open registration. Men alone were privileged with the franchise at this date and 136 recorded their choice for leaders in school administration. Those elected were Thos. G. Clute, James Montgomery and Robert Parker, M.D. The defeated candidates were James Boldrick, R. P. Gilbert and Hiram Smith. It is noteworthy that one of the defeated candidates received only one vote — and that was not his own.

community. The planning and growth of our churches and schools makes our village a better place in which to live — wholesome entertainment for the youth and a peaceful and abiding place for the older.

"Progress is like charity, it should begin at home. It is better to light one candle and keep it burning brightly than to keep alive a few smoldering ones. Having established a sound beginning we can continue in like manner."

On Public Relations, she continued, "To have good neighbours we must be a good neighbor which is the password (so to speak) for this subject."

"Friendliness and trust is the motto for Public Relations. How sad and defeated is the one who has never taken time to keep her friendship in repair. Try to succeed with all your might. To every task full service give. Cling to the things you know are right and in contentment you shall live."

Mrs. E. Foster gave a reading entitled, "Driving Manners."

The showing of colored slides proved very interesting, showing the beauty in and around our Village which looks still more beautiful in color and on a screen. These were shown by Mrs. Luella Bronson. Mrs. Doug Ackers put on several games which were very entertaining. The meeting closed with the singing of The Queen.

A tasty lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. McMurray and Mrs. C. Wright.

St. John's Ladies' Guild

The annual meeting of St. John's Ladies' Guild was held on the Parish Hall on Tuesday afternoon, January 7th with 15 members present. The President, Mrs. Burton Woodbeck, opened the meeting with hymn 97.

Mrs. Melville Tanner gave the Treasurer's report. Roll call for February is for each member to bring someone with you.

Mrs. B. Belshaw presided over the election of officers for 1958 which resulted as follows:

President, Mrs. B. Woodbeck; Vice-President, Mrs. H. Rodgers; Secretary, Mrs. F. Harding; Treasurer, Mrs. M. Tanner; Pianist, Mrs. Earl Morrow; Quilt Conveners, Mrs. T. Tanner and Mrs. S. Leonard; Flower and Gift Conveners, Mrs. Edgar Morrow.

The President then took the chair and thanked the ladies for their nomination.

Mrs. Edgar Morrow and Mrs. Earl Morrow presided over the program. Mrs. B. Woodbeck favoured with a vocal solo, "It Is No Secret," with Mrs. Earl Morrow at the piano. The President conducted a contest.

The meeting closed with prayer and a delicious lunch was served by the committee. Mrs. M. Tanner moved a vote of thanks to all.

John C. Rose Dies of Injuries From Car Accident

This community was deeply shocked on Sunday to learn of the sudden death of John Charles Rose, as a result of a car accident at the intersection of Highways No. 2 and 401 at Bowmanville.

Born in Rawdon Township, west of this village, he was the son of Mrs. Morris Rose and the late Mr. Rose, and was in his 27th year. He attended the Stirling schools and was a member of various village hockey teams. He also was a member of Stirling Citizens' Band and played in local dance orchestras at various times. Of a quiet, unassuming nature he was popular and his sudden passing is deeply regretted by a wide circle of friends.

For a number of years he was employed by A. H. Hadley, but latterly he was an employee of the Northern Electric Co. of Canada Ltd. at Toronto and was working in Oshawa. He was a member of St. Paul's United Church.

He leaves to mourn besides his mother, two sisters, Mrs. Bert (Marion) Bastedo, Stirling, and Mrs. William (Ruth) Greenley, of Toronto, and a brother, Garry, at home.

The funeral was held on Tuesday from the Duffin Funeral Home to St. Paul's United Church for service at two o'clock. Rev. A. Packman conducted the service.

The pallbearers were former school-mates of the deceased, Ray Tanner, G. Stapley, G. Thain and R. Hadley, of Stirling; D. Wanamaker, of Peterborough, and J. McCrory, of Belleville. Entombment Stirling Cemetery.

Wellman's W.A. And W.M.S.

The first meeting of the new year was held at the home of Mrs. Robert Wallace and Mrs. Howard Wallace on January 7th. Mrs. Jack Dunham presided and opened the meeting with the theme song. Hymn 364 was read as a prayer.

Items of business were dealt with. It was decided to send Presbytery their share of fees. The congregational meeting will be held on January 17th and a pot luck supper and entertainment will be held in the Orange Hall on February 7th.

The meeting was in charge of Mrs. Ken Tompkins for the devotional. Mrs. Jim Pollock read the Scripture. Hymn 573 was read by Mrs. W. G. Fletcher. Mrs. Ken Tompkins led in prayer.

Hymn 580 was sung. Mrs. Howard Wallace gave a reading entitled, "Another Year." Mrs. John Rainie sang, "Be a Helper." Mrs. John Carlie gave splendid thoughts on "Keeping the Christmas spirit within ourselves throughout the year 1958." This was followed by prayer. Miss Emma Rainie gave a reading entitled "My Christmas guest," written by the late Margaret Moore, of Detlor, Ont.

Mrs. Jack Dunham thanked the hostesses for opening their home for the meeting.

Stirling Midgels Remain Undefeated Win One and Tie In Past Week

Defeated Brighton 7-1 On Own Ice — Return Game To Be Played Friday Night

Unable to hold a four-goal lead at the end of the second period, Stirling Midgels were lucky to escape with an eight-all tie with Havelock last Friday night at the Stirling Arena. Smith potted two first period goals while Wright and Cooney had singles with a lone tally by Kirk for Havelock.

In the second period Marvin Reid scored twice and Smith once, all three goals coming on breakaways. McArthur and Rutherford kept Havelock in the game for Havelock with singles. However, Stirling left the ice at the end of the second period with a 7-3 lead.

Havelock, with nothing to lose, played it wide open in the third and Stirling was unable to stand up under their strong attack. By the seven-minute mark in the third Havelock had gone ahead by one goal with Kirk scoring twice and Barron, McArthur and Rutherford scoring singles. With only a minute of play remaining Smith and Palmer broke out with one man back, Smith passing to Palmer as they crossed the visitors' blue line and Fred made no mistake, lifting a perfect shot into the corner of the net.

Defeat Brighton By A 7-1 Count

Stirling journeyed to Brighton on Monday night and backed up by outstanding goal tending by Claire Craighead in the first two periods and Paul Jeffs in the third, easily romped to a 7-1 victory.

The first period was close with both teams playing all out, Stirling scoring the only goal at the half-way mark, a beauty by Mike Long with Fairies and Scott assisting. Twice Claire robbed Brighton on breakaways.

Smith scored twice in the second period with Mayhew and Palmer drawing single assists. Again Claire had to be good to hold off the Brighton attack as they desperately tried to get back into the game.

In the final stanza Stirling carried the play all the way with Smith scoring three goals and assisting on one. Palmer had a single and two additional assists. Brighton managed to poke a single goal behind Paul Jeffs after missing on three successive shots from close in.

Return Game Friday

Brighton will play the return game at Stirling on Friday night at 7.30, an early game to allow the players and fans to attend the Spinster's Dance. Brighton have a rough and ready crew and Stirling will have to be on their toes to win this final game of the schedule and keep their perfect record clean.

who are the volunteer workers — the managers, coaches, local league secretaries, and yes, even the volunteer referees. Without these men there would be no minor hockey. And if no minor hockey, NO HOCKEY!

In Ontario, the observance is under the direction of the Ontario Minor Hockey Association.

The O.M.H.A., in turn, is co-operating with other affiliates to make Minor Hockey Week a successful venture. O.M.H.A. Executive members are all busy lining up special programmes in their respective districts. Special nights will be held in practically every city, town and village with teams entered in the Ontario Minor Hockey Association, and that's practically every city, town and village in Ontario. Teams will be holding their own "Minor Hockey Night" during the week, featuring special programmes, important minor hockey games, lucky draws and door prizes. O.M.H.A. President Jack Oakes and every member of his executive will be out to these special games every night during Minor Hockey Week.

There will be press interviews, special publicity, radio and television appearances for every phase of minor hockey — players, coaches, managers, secretaries, referees and individual members of the O.M.H.A. executive — thus covering every field of endeavour connected with the training of better Canadian citizens through participation in Minor Hockey.

All in all, "Minor Hockey Week in Canada" and especially in Ontario, looks like a big week for the youngsters and the men who work for them. And a busy week for the officials.

Keep Canada First — Support Minor Hockey.

A Traveller's Note Book

Travelling, it is said, opens one's eyes. That is true providing you look at things for there are few people who really see what they are looking at. For instance, it is also said that "Culture is something that the average man passes at seventy miles an hour."

Then again, it depends upon how you look at things. If you look at the universe through a test tube, you will probably come to the conclusion, as did T. H. Huxley, that the universe bears no suggestion of spirit or spontaneity. The question arises — can we make sense of this universe without bringing in the idea of God? What Huxley did not see was that if you get rid of God, you also get rid of such ideas as right and wrong. Vice then becomes as commendable as virtue.

Then also there are people whose thought is expressed in the words of Blake:

Tiger, tiger, burning bright
In the forest of the night,
What immortal hand or eye
Could frame thy fearful symmetry?

When the stars threw down their spears,
And watered heaven with their tears,

Did He smile, His work to see?
Did He who made the lamb make thee?

An Act of God

This latter conflict is not, however, confined to lambs, tigers, rattlers and so on ranged alongside the butterfly and beauty and virtue. Often we have heard disaster described as "An Act of God," but what is an act of God? Is a newspaper an act of God? If so, it certainly relieves the editor of a great responsibility who otherwise ought to be put in prison. Is a baby an act of God. Again, I have heard it described. But babies have a way of turning out rather differently to what one would expect. At the beginning of the last war, a novelist named Wodehouse, was caught by the Nazis in France. He was at the time giving a cocktail party at Le Touque. He was taken to Germany and from there he made a number of broadcasts in favor of Hitler. Later he was received by the U.S.A. where now he lives as a great addition to their culture. Was Wodehouse an act of God?

And The Kitchen Sink

Strange association, I grant you, but, if you will think it out, you will probably come to the conclusion that there is a connection. The fact is, because of the terrible load of living, some people are finding life almost unendurable. At least, my mail bag suggests as much. A lady writes asking advice because of the following: For her life is already blighted because, in her words: "My first dinner party was ruined by the first three dishes which were all in turn covered with a white sauce. What advice you give me?" I replied: "Certainly you have great cause to be upset or even to jump into the lake. I advise against this latter at least while the ice is around; should you jump, you might only hurt your head, you might not drown and that would be a pity. Meantime, the next time anyone serves three dishes in a row all covered with that beastly mess, just dump it in your hostess' lap, rush into the kitchen and buy yourself a lump of bread and cheese." The second almost distracted person to write says: "There is a cooking crisis at home. Last night my husband went off the deep end because of the taste of the salad. What shall I do?" My answer was: "First, fire the cook and then explaining to your husband that Pyreneese salad is like modern art, you have to get used to it."

And The Moon Is Red

The worries of our proud and angry dust prevail. The RED MOON has upset our calculations so that we have had difficulty in shaping the fortunes of those born between January 20th and February 21st. However, by using a new formula, we got it at last. Here it is: "A tricky period. Bad for travel and bad for lumbago. Not any good for new ventures and our advice is — stay at home until after February 21st."

Should you by mischance see the RED MOON, just report it to us and we will ask Washington to shoot it down.

PHAROS

January Meeting St. Paul's W.M.S.

On the lace covered table a beautiful azalea with the open Bible in front formed an impressive setting while Mrs. D. Luery at the piano played the theme, "Breathe On Me Breath of God." Thus opened the first meeting of the new year of St. Paul's W.M.S.

The President, Mrs. Geo. Carlisle, brought "Thoughts for the Coming Year," followed by prayer.

Mrs. D. Luery gave the story of last year's work and Mrs. Brown gave the financial report. Mrs. Geo. Carlisle dedicated the 1957 work to the Glory of the Master. The leader of the Golden Key Mission Band, Mrs. J. McCaughen, reported a membership of 47 members and 3 life members. The Mission Band packet was used, scrap books made, special days such as Valentine's, etc., were celebrated with lunch and treats. $150.00 was sent to the Presbyterian Treasurer.

Mrs. Roy Tucker reported that social notes were sent to 56 Baby Band members and $35.00 to the Presbyterian Treasurer.

The Community Friendship Secretary, Mrs. S. Williams, announced 250 house calls and 35 hospital calls. The Citizenship and Temperance Secretary, Mrs. V. Richardson, stressed the need of courage to adhere to Christian Principles in these days. Mrs. E. Eggleston, Secretary of Christian Stewardship, paid tribute to the work done by the President, Secretary and Treasurer of the organization. She stated that excess of allocation would be sent to either the W.M.S. Hospital at Burns Lake, B.C., or to scholarships.

Mrs. Ayhart reported there were 11 Associate Members. The Supply Secretary, Mrs. M. Bell, reported that a generous bale was shipped in June which included many knitted articles, 13 quilts and 3 crib quilts. She paid tribute to her assistants and stated there was money and material on hand to start off the new year.

The nominating committee for the new year will be Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Wilkins. Mrs. P. Utman and Mrs. W. Elliott were appointed auditors.

Mrs. H. West rendered a beautiful solo, "From Day to Day." The Doxology was sung as dedication of the offering. Mrs. Carlisle read a poem, "Hope for the New Year."

The meeting closed with the Mizpah Benediction. Lunch, consisting of cheese, hot muffins and coffee was served by the executive.

Carmel W.A.

The January meeting of the Woman's Association of Carmel United Church was held in the Church Hall on Thursday evening with Mrs. Frank Keating as hostess. Mrs. Ray Hagerman was in charge of the opening and business.

Plans were made for catering at Scott's Sales Barn and for a quilting and pot luck dinner at the Church Hall. The Treasurer gave the report for the year showing a balance on hand of $809.00. The largest expense item was the painting of the hall and kitchen floor by Mr. Harvey Couch. The Secretary reported twenty-five members and three life members with 243 calls made on the sick and shut-ins. The fowl anniversary dinner was a community effort and four times catering at Scott's Livestock Sales, Belleville.

Mrs. Lorne Brooks took charge of the programme. Mrs. Joe Grills and Mrs. Harry Brooks gave the devotional with Miss Doris Grills at the piano. Readings were given by Mrs. Keating, Mrs. A. Pyear, Mrs. Archie Balling and Mrs. Joe Grills. The topic on "New Year's" was presented. Joanne Brooks, Sandra Hagerman and Sharon Grills played piano numbers.

Bethel Girls' Club

The January meeting of the Bethel Girls' Club was held on Saturday afternoon, January 11th at the home of Mrs. Francis Reid. The meeting opened with the call to worship by Barbara Hadley, followed with hymn "This is My Father's World." The Scripture Lesson was taken by Faye Cooney.

Mrs. W. G. Fletcher, the guest speaker, gave a very thoughtful message on "Standards and Measures." The worship period closed with the hymn, "In Christ There Is No East or West."

The new president, Barbara Hadley, conducted the business period. The Treasurer's report was given by Joyce Reid. Plans were made to hold a skating party in the near future, the committee in charge will be Barbara Hadley, Joyce Reid and Faye Cooney. The next meeting will be held at the home of Barbara Hadley.

The programme opened with a reading by Linda McMullen. Janet Fletcher favoured with a solo, followed with a musical game by Shirley Cooney. Marion Heath conducted a Bible contest.

A delicious lunch was served by Mrs. Reid and girls. Shirley Cooney voiced the appreciation of the group to Mrs. Reid for her generous hospitality.

The December meeting was spent in Christmas carolling on December 23rd at the homes in the community, after which the group returned to the home of Mrs. T. Cooney and a lovely lunch was enjoyed by everyone. The girls had their gift exchange.

Nowadays they call a man an extremist just because he is able to make both ends meet.

A man would probably have a chance of getting by without working if competition wasn't so keen.

G. G. Bailey, President

To The Ratepayers of Rawdon Township

Stirling, Ontario,
January 21st, 1958

The Rawdon Township Council held a special meeting on January 20th, with the members all present. The following motion was passed and carried:

Moved by Beckett, seconded by Brown that Douglas Andrews lay men off subject to immediate recall for snow plowing.

The above letter was received by the undersigned on January 21st, 1958.

I respectfully wish to draw the attention of the ratepayers to the above motion, in that no men are to be recalled for sanding, and I also wish to state that I feel no personal liability for winter control of Rawdon roads in view of the above motion.

Since the Council has seen fit to change the customary policy of allowing the Road Superintendent full control over his duties, I respectfully suggest you express your complaints to your members of Council who drew up the above motion.

Winter maintenance of expensive machinery is a procedure followed by all road-building firms and the men mentioned in the above motion are all efficient men. At the present time the D-6 bulldozer which serves the private citizen so economically, is torn down for major repairs. The power grader, swing shovel, the crusher, the sprayer, the air compressor, the power road mower, the Case tractor and the dump truck, representing an investment of at least $88,000.00 by present day values, all require varying amounts of servicing in order to have them in economical working order for this summer's work.

I had planned brush cutting to be carried out in the winter months, to free both labour and machinery for crushed gravel, maintenance and the construction projects to be carried out in the summer months.

This is the standard planning procedure of all Road Superintendents of my acquaintance and meets with the full approval of the District Municipal Engineer at the Department of Highways Office, Kingston, to whom I am answerable.

I am quite willing to discuss with any ratepayer on my own time, in my home, or at the Township shed, my personal views on any of these matters.

Yours truly,
DOUGLAS ANDREWS

OF MANY THINGS

(By Ambrose Hills)

TWO PRINT SHOPS

In an effort to get a print job done during the busy holiday season, I visited two print shops and I was greatly struck by the difference between them.

Their machines were much the same; but the tempo of activity was strikingly different. The first shop was a leisurely, slow-paced, slap-happy operation. At the counter, the man said, "No... don't think we could handle that now. You should come earlier... holidays and all..." The second shop looked, sounded, and was a going concern, with machines clicking at full speed, operators chipper and active. At the counter, the man said — with a wide grin — "If you'll leave it with us, we'll do our darndest. 'Hey, Charlie!'"

Charlie came over and the man said, "Think we could get this out for the man? He's in a bit of a spot..." Charlie asked me a few quick questions about type face, deadline, color, and willingness to pay a bit of overtime if need be. Then he said, "We'll do our best — I think we can handle it by the deadline; I'll guarantee it for the 28th, though."

They did the job, sent a car for me to come and read proof right in the shop, and there was no overtime required. I started to thank the boss profusely. He said, "You really ought to thank Charlie — but the best way to thank us is with your next print job." He said it with a grin, of course, but he meant it and he'll get my next print job and I'll have it at his shop at the earliest possible moment.

One other thing about those two shops has stuck in my mind ever since.

That was the expression on the faces of the boys and girls at work. In the leisurely shop, they looked gloomy, tired, unhappy. In the fast-moving set-up, they looked alert, happy, enterprising.

I'm convinced that in an organization where everyone is going full tilt against deadlines, there is more genuine goodwill and fine spirit than you find in situations where workers just aren't doing their best. When everyone's on his toes, snapping into the job, there's an inescapable spirit of zest and pep.

I may be wrong, but I'd be willing to make a bet that the men in shop one feel more tired at the end of the day than the chaps in shop two!

The Bible Today

(From C. R. Rudd)

Bible salesmen in India sometimes meet with difficulties that are not encountered in our country.

Writing from the Canada Presbyterian Mission at Jhansi, the Rev. Angus McKay says: "I have just returned from a ten-day tour with the Bible Society Van from Calcutta which has been visiting our area. We were working in what are called 'affected areas' which means areas where there are special police in addition to the regular police, on account of the lawlessness of the people. Several bands of robbers are operating throughout the territory necessitating special corps of more highly trained and more adequately equipped police. We had an interesting time and sold many Gospel portions even if the going was rather rigorous."

Rev. E. J. Heuer, who is in India taking motion pictures for the British and Foreign Bible Society in Canada, will visit the Jhansi field where Mr. McKay is at work.

A. J. H. Richardson Chief of National Historic Sites Speaker At U.E.L.

A combined meeting of the Quinte Branch United Empire Loyalist Association, the Belleville, Napanee and Picton Historical Societies, was held at Shire Hall, Belleville, on January 15th. Over one hundred people attended this gathering.

The meeting was addressed by Mr. A. J. H. Richardson, of Ottawa, Chief of the National Historic Sites of Canada.

He spoke on the early days of the Quinte country; in particular, the counties of Lennox and Addington, Prince Edward and Hastings. The first white men to arrive in the Quinte area, in 1689, were two Sulpician priests who founded the Kente Mission at Carrying Place. Their work was to try to convert the Iroquois. They had to live in Indian style, and after a few years they were recalled to Montreal and the mission was abandoned.

Some residents of Myers Creek thought the name was not fitting for so fine a place. When Governor Gore came for a visit, his opinion was sought. "Why not name it after my wife? Her name is Arabella." It is alleged that, in this way Belleville received its present name. The Moira River was called Sagonsashkogan by the Indians, later it was named Moira after the second Earl of Moira in 1793.

Early Settlers

Suffered Many Hardships

Of the early settlers who previously had come as far west as Kingston, some proceeded to Adolphustown and up the Bay of Quinte. The first of these received some supply of flour, corn, axes, plow and hoes, as well as powder and shot from the government stores at Kingston. Those who followed later did not receive any government aid and were strictly on their own. Any who came after 1784 had to do the best they could in the forest. At first there was plenty of fish and game but in 1788, the "Hungry Year," the streams nearly dried up in the very hot summer. It is alleged that, moss grew in the beds of streams, fish died or disappeared, and the game moved farther north.

Many of the settlers suffered from malnutrition, and some nearly starved. The next winter the snow was very deep and those who were short of powder and shot had little chance to hunt any game. In the winter two men with an ox team and sleigh went two hundred miles to a place in New York State to get four bushels of corn. It took them eight weeks to make the return trip because the snow was so deep. With this corn and the milk from one cow, four families lived until the next harvest. That summer the settlers missed the salmon, white fish and black bass which previously had been so plentiful. Some records tell of some settlers having to dig up potatoes and beans which they had planted, to get something to eat. One settler sold his farm with some improvements for an old horse.

Houses and stables were built of log walls and shake roofs. The roofs were made by hollowing out small logs and placing one over the edge of the two adjacent ones till the whole roof was covered. The spaces between the logs were chinked with clay and moss. The chimneys were built of pieces of wood laid edge on edge, and plastered with clay, making them fire-proof.

Potash First

Source of Income

One of the earliest sources of income was from potash which was made from the ashes of trees that were burned to make a clearing. There was a market for potash in the United States. It took about fifty large maple trees to make enough ashes to get a barrel of potash, for which the settler received from seven to nine dollars. This had to be delivered to a place of water transportation. It was a tough job to haul the seven-hundred pound barrels of potash to water transportation over forest trails merely marked by a "blaze" on trees. Settlers had to clear one-half width of the road in front of their farms before they could get their deeds. In this way the roads slowly began to take shape.

Two of the earliest settlers at Belleville were Alexander Chisholm and Captain George Singleton. Later Captain John Walden Myers came and built the first saw and grist mills on the Moira River. He also built the first brick house in Ontario. This was about 1790. These were the only mills between Napanee and York (Toronto) for the next five years and settlers came to his mills from as far west as Port Hope. Two more mills were built at Corbyville and Canniff (Cannifton), prior to 1812.

A government highway was opened in 1800 between Kingston and York, passing through Prince Edward County. A track had been cut from the Trent River to the Moira, but there was none for fifteen miles east of Thurlow Township. In 1804 the Moira was bridged and a road opened to the east, becoming part of the main highway between York and Kingston. This road was so poor that most of the travel was by water.

In the early days, a pottery was established at Belleville or Canniff, employing seven men and made churns, butter crocks, water jugs and several other things.

Timber And Lumber Trade

One result of the European War of 1812 was the opening up of the timber and lumber trade with Great Britain when that country's timber supply from the Baltic countries was cut off. About this time Gilmour Brothers came from Scotland and started lumbering along the Trent River, floating their logs down the Trent to their sawmills at Trenton on the Bay of Quinte. The Rathbun Lumber Co. lumbered mostly along the Moira, floating their logs to their mills to Deseronto.

It gave many a settler a chance to make some much needed money by working in the woods cutting and hewing large trees into square timber. In the spring it took fifty men or more to drive the logs to the mill which would take about two months. Another hundred men were employed at the mill at Trenton where about twelve million feet of lumber was sawn each year. Spars for ship masts were taken out and often it took ten or a dozen horses or oxen to get these very long timbers into the water. Much of the square timber was chained together at Trenton to make a raft and this was towed by sail boats to Quebec City to be loaded on ships for Britain. When there was a market for oak timber, the logs had to be chained to a pine or cedar log on either side to keep them afloat. In the early 1900's both Gilmour and Rathbun companies closed their mills and this made a great difference to Trenton and Deseronto.

In 1818 Belleville had one hundred and fifty people. By 1836 it had eighteen hundred and as a result of the lumber boom had five mills. In this year it was incorporated as a police village. The court house was built in 1832.

In 1831 there were only twelve common schools and one Grammar school in the Midland district (this Quinte Area). In 1838 a Grammar school was opened in Belleville. In 1846, the present public school system was started and primary education became free and compulsory for all children. Previously, parents had to pay for their children's education.

Napanee had mills in 1790 and was the half-way place on the Kingston and York highway. Also, it had one of the earliest furniture factories in Upper Canada, and is still going strong. Many early settlers were attracted to settle in this area as the land was exceptionally good.

Deseronto had a shipyard in the early days which provided much employment. Later Deseronto had a match factory and also became the headquarters for a large lumber company.

Prince Edward County was named after Prince Edward, Duke of Kent, father of Queen Victoria. On his return from Niagara, he visited Marysburg.

In 1784 the first white men set foot on the site of Picton. They were Colonel Henry Young and his two sons. In 1814 a preacher, Mr. McAuley, built the first church and named the place Picton after a general who fell in the battle of Waterloo. The first Picton paper was called the Halliwell Free Press, printed in 1830. A company was formed to run a steamer between Picton and Prescott. In 1831 the court house was built. Near Demorestville was built the first cannery factory in Canada.

First Iron Mines At Marmora

In 1822 the iron mines were opened at Marmora by a Mr. Parker from Scotland. The ore had to be smelted with charcoal since no coal was available. Several things were made there, pig iron, iron bars, potash kettles, and a few other things. Since the cost of transportation was too high, this project was abandoned; after many thousands of dollars had been invested. Mr. Parker was a distant relative of Miss E. Parker, of Stirling. Miss Parker attended this meeting at Shire Hall, Belleville, accompanied by her nephew, Mr. D. Ross, city engineer of Kingston, and his wife.

Before the guest speaker was introduced by Mr. E. J. Chard, the President, Dr. Allison of the U.E.L. Association, called on Chief Justice Moorehouse for a few remarks. This distinguished guest said he had always been interested in history, especially of the early days of Ontario as related by those of an older generation. He strongly advised those present to write down and keep anything they could remember which they had been told by those of the older generation, or else many valuable records will be lost for all time. He hoped all would do their best to see that even old letters any other family records would receive the care they should. The U.E.L. Association and the Historical Societies were in the best position to preserve and keep an interest in this matter.

A special memorial was recorded to Mrs. R. S. McLaughlin, of Oshawa, a United Empire Loyalist descendant, and an honorary Vice-President of the local U.E.L. Association. It was prepared by past president, Mr. Claude Young and made an official document to be preserved for posterity.

The guest speaker, Mr. Richardson, was thanked by Miss K. McFarland, Vice-President.

LIBERALS CHOOSE FEDERAL LEADER

Favored in pre-convention polls, Lester "Mike" Pearson picked up support from uncommitted delegates to the Liberal party leadership convention in Ottawa. His work and reputation in U.N. councils gave his supporters strong talking points as they sought support among the voters.

How little does electricity really cost?

Most things you buy today have gone up in price—an average of 80% between 1940 and 1956 according to the Consumer Price-Index.

But in Ontario during these same years, the average price of ELECTRICITY used in the home and on the farm has actually gone down 4%.

The average cost of a day's cooking for a family of four is only 5.3 cents.

Electricity is one of the most important things in your daily life. Your home is safer...easier to keep clean... brighter...more comfortable than ever before.

Household tasks, and farm tasks too, are done more quickly, more easily, more economically and the world of entertainment is yours at the flick of a switch...all for only a few cents a day.

STIRLING CENTENNIAL, AUG. 3rd to 6th, 1958

DO YOU KNOW THAT ...

The earliest records of a Masonic District reveal that it was composed of the Counties of Hastings, Prince Edward, Lennox and Addington and Renfrew. In 1859 it was composed of seven lodges, one of which was Stirling, and by 1861 twelve lodges were carrying out their duties efficiently.

Since its institution in 1856 Stirling Lodge has been represented at many special functions. Its members have proven themselves as true builders for in the histories of other projects, we find that under the auspices of Stirling Masonic Lodge the corner stone of St. John's Anglican Church was laid in 1860. A similar duty was performed at the Stirling Public Library in 1914, and again in the placing of the date stone at St. Paul's United Church in 1953. At other times they have journeyed further afield.

Some of the names in the following record will strike a sense of interest and pride in the hearts of today's citizens as we note the lodges of the

At the conclusion the members enjoyed a social half hour with lunch.

Farrar Block Burns In Trenton

Nineteen people were left homeless, escaping with only the clothes on their backs in a disastrous fire that razed the Farrar block on Dundas St. East, Trenton, to the ground on Saturday evening.

Also razed by the fire were the Quinte Electronics store on the corner of Ontario and Division Streets and the former Armstrong garage, currently being used by the Trenton Police Department for the storage of impounded vehicles.

Estimated damage from the fierce conflagration runs to well over the $50,000 mark. This figure includes building and contents. In the case of most of the tenants the loss is a total one as they were uninsured.

Stirling Agricultural Society held its annual meeting in the Board Room of the Agricultural Office on Saturday afternoon with a fair attendance of members and directors.

The financial statement and auditors' report were presented and adopted. The Society is in a good financial position.

Reporting for the horse division of the prize list, Earl Wallace stated that conditions were quite satisfactory and the committee members were in favour of retaining two judges. He thought the judging of the roadster classes should commence earlier in the day.

The hall was attractively decorated in various colours depicting a carousel motif, with festoons of balloons conspicuously placed. The whole arrangement reflected credit to the decoration committee under the convenship of Mrs. Carl Bateman.

Music for dancing was provided by "The Toppers" Orchestra, Trenton, and the large crowd of dancers thoroughly enjoyed themselves.

The Fair Grounds were rented to Fred McDonnell for $75.00 per year.

Fire Equipment To Remain In Village

At a special session of Village Council held Saturday morning, it was decided that Stirling's new fire pump and equipment would be used only within the Village limits, with the exception of calls placed through the co-ordinator of the Mutual Aid Fire Brigade Associations, and pending other arrangements with adjacent municipalities. The policy was laid down by Council in answer to inquiries as to what fire protection would be given to residents on the outskirts of the Village.

While members of Council appreciate the spirit of good neighbourliness that prevails between the Village and adjacent municipalities a definite decision had to be made and the responsibility for any change in this must rest with the adjacent municipalities. It would be deeply regretted if a fire were to occur beyond the town limits, and no provision made for fighting it.

The insurance on the new fire pump was placed with J. W. Wright at a premium of $112.00.

A letter was tabled from Dr. Berry of the Water Resources Commission and the Clerk was instructed to endeavour to make an appointment for Council to meet with Dr. Berry on February 10th next. He will also endeavour to arrange an appointment with the Ontario Minister of Highways on the same day.

Woodchuck Wakes Up

"Woody" the pet woodchuck at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Don Tucker, Front St. West, has come out of hibernation. After being asleep since early November in the basement of the Tucker home, he awakened on Tuesday morning and by evening was as frolicsome as a kitten. Whether or not he is readying himself for a frolic in the open on February 2nd, only time will tell.

On Friday, January 24th, Stirling High School arranged an Oratorical Contest to select two students to represent the local school in the C.O.S.S.A. Contest to be held at the Madoc High School on Friday, January 31st.

The School was fortunate in being able to obtain the services of three eminent citizens as judges; these were Mrs. Roy Bush, Dr. A. Packman and Mr. H. R. Tompkins.

In the Senior Competition, for Grades XI, XII and XIII, there were four competitors: Grace Clarke (XIII, The Value of an Education); Mildred Morton (XI, Success); Raeburn Scott (XI, Pauline Johnson, Canadian Poetess) and Sandra West (XI, Jesus Christ). Of the five competitors in the Junior Division, four were from Grade IX: Carol Burgess (The Unsinkable); Annamie Clarke (Franz Schubert); Louise Harding (Horror Movies); Judy Martin (Lieutenant Governor Kellar Mackay); and one, Gerrit De Bruyn (Liberty), from Grade X.

So keen was the competition that in each section the first student was separated from the second by a narrow margin out of a maximum possible of 300 marks. Grace Clarke (256) beat Mildred Morton (248), and Gerrit De Bruyn (248) just beat Judy Martin (246). The winners will speak at

County Council To Approve Plan of Permanent Roads

A supplementary roads bylaw to provide additional money for a programme of permanent roads construction is likely to be approved by Hastings county council this year.

The suggested additional levy for the programme of permanent type paving and other construction work is one-half mill on the county rate.

Thursday at the afternoon session of council, Roads and Bridges Committee Chairman Reeve James Kinlin of Hungerford township, presented the roads committee report which called for a roads expenditure of $334,000 for 1958. This would include an amount of $27,000 for suburban roads.

Breakdown of proposed roads expenditures for the year included $98,000 for construction; $208,540 for maintenance; $6,100 for machinery and $20,460 for incidental expenditure.

Following discussion to get an expression of opinion on whether council would later approve of a supplementary bylaw for permanent type construction, the roads report was passed while a show of hands indicated council would also favor the supplementary expenditure.

The discussion was called for by Committee Chairman Kinlin who said there was a feeling among committee members that more permanent type construction should be done on the county roads system thus allowing eventual reduction on heavy road maintenance costs.

Among the Reeves speaking in favor of the more permanent type roads construction were Earl Sager of Madoc township, Charles Long of Tyndinaga, Alfred Wickett of Thurlow and Deputy Reeve Harleigh Hamilton of Sidney.

Travel permits are now required before entering a provincial woodland.

Recent Bride Honoured By Friends

On Saturday evening, January 18th Mrs. Glenn Morrow, of Stirling R.R. 4 entertained 33 of the River Valley folk in honor of a recent bride, Mrs. George Harris (nee Enid Coumbes). This included Mrs. Morrow's two sisters, Isobel of Brampton, and Loreen, of Bancroft.

The home was decorated with pink and white streamers and wedding bells.

The program opened with a poem, "Wedding Bells," read by Miss Elaine Lindenfeld, and Mrs. Ernest Carr read an appropriate selection.

Miss Isobel Archdeacon, of Brampton, contributed a vocal selection and played her own accompaniment. Miss Marilyn Conley rendered a piano solo. Four Morrow sisters, Misses Helen, Margaret, Lois and Ruth sang, with the former as accompanist. Mrs. J. R. Donohoe conducted a novel clothespin contest, entitled, "Blue Monday," on which each guest wrote "advice to the bride."

At the close the honored guest was presented with the pins complete with clothespin bag.

Mrs. Donohoe then conducted an outdoor game contest and the winners were Mrs. R. Coombes, Miss Betty Hanna and Miss Greta de Jong.

Miss Helen Morrow read an address and the bride was the recipient of a large array of linen gifts. Enid voiced thanks for the lovely gifts after which delectable refreshments were served. A humorous story "All About the Bride," was read and caused a lot of

A Traveller's Note Book

We were invited last week to the High School to take some small part in a contest in public speaking. The visit proved worth the time and the effort. Several excellent oral performances were given, all deserving of mention. One especially remains with me at the moment, its title was "The Unsinkable." Reference, of course to the ill fated Titanic. I had the pleasure shortly after the loss of this noble ship, to travel with, or rather, on the same ship as its third officer who, after being sucked down with the ship was blown clear to the surface again by an explosion. It seemed at the time remarkable to me that shortly after such an experience, he had taken to the sea again, this time as first officer on the "Britanic."

The High School girl did a fine job in presenting the sad story of "The Unsinkable." Two things, however, not mentioned on this occasion, come to mind. The first is that for the first time at sea, a ship used the "S.O.S." distress signal. The second, the officer standing calmly on deck as the ship sunk and in a quiet yet decisive voice saying: "Women and children first." Each of these, signs of a high civilization.

I was greatly sorry and I usually am on such occasions that there can be only one first place, only one winner. Certainly, there were those whose matter and its presentation were in every respect commendable. I trust they will have another shot at it.

Of the Titanic both heroism and shame is spoken. There was the incident of the wireless operator who, intent on duty was trying to contact the "Californian" and the stoker who stole his life belt jacket. There is the further conduct of the "Californian" which throughout the whole of the three fatal hours was but ten miles away yet did not make for the scene of disaster until the "Carpathia" which had belted through fifty-eight miles of icefield had begun to pick up

Sunday's sermon had to do with faith. That which distinguishes one man from another is not that the one has faith and the other lacks faith. It is the object of each man's faith. The objects of men's faith are as numerous as the bottles in a drug store. This naturally introduces us to this week's horoscope.

Acquarius — January 20th to February 18th reads as follows: "A care-free period almost. Domestic problems may change for the better but don't get slack on that account. You are likely to run into a 'tight money' zone, so sole your own shoes and spend sparingly. Opportunities should come your way this month but don't look for a 'something for nothing' break."

County Council Approves Request For Int. Plowing Match In Belleville Area

Hastings County Council wound up its January session Friday afternoon. During the last day of the session, council gave formal approval to a request to officially invite the International Plowing Match to be held in the Belleville area in 1961. Earlier during the session there had been considerable discussion on the matter. Along with agreeing to extend the invitation to bring the big plowing match here council voted a grant of $1,000 to the Plowmen's Association as a measure of good faith. The invitation will be extended by the agricultural committee.

Grants of $5,000 to the Children's Aid Society to cover the expenses of their preventive officer and $1,000 to the Bancroft hospital were approved, as were regulation grants to the various rural public libraries in the county.

Council approved of a resolution tabled by Reeve Irwin McCoy, of Mar-mora township asking the federal government to extend its grant aid to conservation work to assist in the cost of smaller water storage dams on the Moira watershed.

Council also passed a recommendation authorizing its assessment committee to work out with the county assessor a programme of uniformity among the townships in certain assessing problems.

Reeve Spry On Assessment

Members of the county assessment committee appointed by Warden Price include Deputy-Reeve Harry Pound of Thurlow, ad Reeves James Spry of Rawdon, George Spencer of Frankford and John Horsepool of Faraday township, along with the Warden.

Membership in several municipal organizations and other bodies were renewed and council delegates named to attend annual conventions.

A grant of $1,000 for junior farmer extension work in the county was approved, along with the county soil and crop crop improvement association and the spring show at Peterborough.

Grant To Stirling

A request for a grant of $500 from the Stirling Centennial Committee saw opposition from members who finally approved a grant of $250.00.

Presentation To Young Couple

On Friday evening, January 17th a presentation party was held in River Valley school house in honor of the newly-weds, Mr. and Mrs. George Harris (nee Enid Coombes) with a large number in attendance.

Mr. Glenn Bush was master of ceremonies and Mrs. Philip Conley officiated at the piano. The pupils of Grades 1, 2 and 3 contributed a song.

The Misses Linda Ann Morrow, Gail Morrow and Margaret Morrow, with Mrs. Harry Morrow as accompanist repeated the selections that they sang at the wedding, "Where'er You Walk" and "O Perfect Love."

Readings were given by Miss Adeline Bush and Mrs. Albert Hubble.

The pupils of Grades 4 and 5 contributed a song, followed by the Misses Betty Hanna, Gail Morrow, Margaret Morrow and Linda Ann Morrow, who gave two humorous songs with motions and quips, which were most hilarious.

Miss Maria Heasman delighted with a tap dance number, and the senior pupils contributed a three-part chorus.

Musical selections were provided by Glenn Morrow, violin and Mrs. Phil Conley, piano; eight high school students staged a square dance number; a special trio of piano music was given by Linda Ann, Gail and Barbara Morrow.

The pupils of River Valley public school sang in honor of "The Bride and Groom" and used the names Enid and George in the special chorus arrangement.

Address And Presentation

Miss Diane Richardson read an address and Messrs. John Sager, J. R. Donohoe and Hadley Richardson made the presentation of a floor lamp, coffee table with matching step table, both with arborite tops, linen sheets and pillow cases.

Both George and Enid voiced grateful thanks for party and gifts and invited one and all to visit them at Toronto.

The committee served bountiful refreshments and all enjoyed a social time.

Snowplow Driver Killed Near Madoc

A snowplow driver pitched from his cab while plowing Highway No. 7 west of Madoc late Saturday, was run over by his own machine. The driver, James Wilson, 48, of Dingman Street, Madoc, died almost instantly.

His helper, Sheldon Marr, 40, also of Madoc, told Provincial Police how it happened.

About 8.15 p.m. Saturday, the Department of Highways plow was moving westwards slowly on Highway No. 7, on the south shoulder, about two and one-half miles west of Madoc. Wilson increased power and the windshield wipers, which operate on the vacuum principle, stalled.

Blinded by snow, Wilson pulled over and his plow blade hit the rock cut. He opened the door to see what was happening and was bounced out. He was crushed under the machine's giant rear wheel.

OF MANY THINGS

(By Ambrose Hills)

ME AND THE CBC

Twice I've tangled with Ron Fraser, CBC's Press and Information chief. First I complained that many big advertisers pay only a portion of the cost of their shows. Mr. Fraser wrote a hot letter to editors, denying this. But it turned out I was right, and CBC finally admitted it to the Royal Commission on Broadcasting.

This time I complained about Mr. Fraser's own department, which spent $920,470 in 1957 — an increase of $200,000 over 1956. Mr. Fraser's reply was that I should have read page 44 of CBC's annual report to learn how it was spent. I did. Page 44 gives no figures except ones of this nature, "The number of radio and television columnists in Canada receiving special CBC press services rose to 65 during the year." Rose from what? From 50? Even if it rose from zero it wouldn't begin to explain a $200,000 increase in costs to the taxpayer.

Then I said I suspected performers were right in charging that they do not get a fair share of the money CBC spends on programmes. Mr. Fraser answered that CBC had not heard this from performers. All I can say is that CBC must then be deaf and blind, because when the column was written Mr. Denny Vaughan's charges in this respect were being heard everywhere.

Mr. Fraser then said I could have learned about what they pay performers in the domestic service by reading the Index to the Report, which would have told me there was a special section on Talent at page 30. CBC Press and Information department bungled the Index of their fancy report, but I did find Talent on page 31. It says they spent 7½ millions on TV talent; 3½ millions on radio talent. But a few paragraphs down we learn that $2,400,000 of this did not go to performers.

The actual performers who appear on your screen were paid, as I figure it, a total of $8,600,000. Now let us turn to the CBC financial statement.

To programme costs they charge up $31,657,314.00. Now there's a pretty glaring difference between eight millions and thirty-one millions!

Mr. Fraser then hints that because I use a pen name (as hundred of writers do) I am thus a shadowy character, and readers should therefore discount what I write. Wouldn't I be acting equally childish if I responded, "Pay no heed to Ron Fraser, because he's a hired spokesman for CBC?"

We are all shareholders in CBC, Mr. Dunton tells us. Perhaps Mr. Fraser's department might reasonably be expected to give us more information on why the cost of his department rose by $200,000 in a single year! Or why that department should cost the staggering sum of $920,470.00 in one year!

Salem W.A. Meets In Church Hall

The January meeting of Salem W.A. was held in the Church Hall in the form of a pot luck dinner and quilting. There was a splendid attendance of members and several men for dinner. In the afternoon the President, Mrs. Murney Johnston, opened the meeting with the theme song and theme prayer and the poem, "The Year Ends." Hymn 257 was sung.

Roll call was paying membership fees and showed 24 ladies present, also several visiting ladies. Roll call for February will be a woman's name found in the Bible.

A greeting card sent to the W.A. from the Beckel family was passed around showing a picture of the interior of his Church in Regina. Correspondence was dealt with. Thanks was expressed by several folk for Christmas treats received. Mrs. Orval Jackson will act as hostess, assisted by Mrs. Frank McGee and Mrs. Bert Heagle for the February meeting. The President thanked everyone who had helped in any way with the new floor. It was agreed to quilt another quilt in the near future. Mrs. Lorne Hagerman gave the treasurer's report in full. Mrs. Bert Heagle, Mrs. George Sine, Mrs. Harold Holden, Mrs. Ivan Sines and Mrs. Murney Johnston were named to act as an entertaining committee.

Mrs. Albert Twiddy was in charge of the programme. Hymn 358 was sung. The Scripture reading, Matthew 2: 1-12 was read by Mrs. Arnold Ray and explanation was given by Mrs. Everett Sine, followed by prayer by Mrs. Stan Thompson. Mrs. W. J. Johnston gave a reading, "The Old Year" and a reading, "The New Year" was given by Mrs. Murray Roy. A missionary story was given by Mrs. Thos. Clements. Mrs. McGee and Mrs. Mayo favoured with a duet.

Miss Edna Tanner gave the topic on "The New Year." Mrs. Harold Holden expressed thanks to the hostess, Mrs. Cecil Carter, and her assistants, for the success of the day. Hymn 354 was sung and all repeated the benediction.

Dinner money was $14.48.

CHEX Peterboro To Increase Power

After a series of setbacks, including the discovery of quicksand in a critical area, CHEX Radio in Peterboro is on the last leg of technical preparations preceding its increase in power to 5000 watts, and move to a frequency of 980 kilocycles. All of the equipment has been installed and all that remains is for the transmission equipment to be aligned, tuned and tested. This is expected to take about three or four weeks.

The quicksand episode was the main reason that CHEX missed its original target date of November 15th. The swampy stuff appeared in the exact location of one of the four antenna towers. It being impossible to relocate the tower, the quicksand had to be conquered. To do so, heavy pile-driving equipment had to be moved onto the site, and a concrete caisson sunk to a depth of 30 feet to support the tower. During this maneuver, the equipment itself was bogged down and several times had to be winched bodily out of the mire. However, every cloud has a silver lining, and CHEX Chief Engineer, Bert Crump states that the swampy nature of the transmitter site means that CHEX Radio will have a ground system that is next to perfect.

Motorists driving along Highway No. 7 can now see the lights of the CHEX Transmission towers gleaming down the Keene side road. All four of the towers are 250 feet high. Very soon now, residents of an area extending from Kingston in the east to Barrie in the west, and north to beyond Bancroft, will be able to hear the powerful new voice of Peterboro.

NEWS FOR THE BUSY FARMER

EARLINESS AND YIELD COMPARISONS WITH OAT VARIETIES

Although earliness is a desirable feature in oats, there is considerable evidence to indicate that yield must be sacrificed in order to obtain earliness in a variety. One of the most striking examples of the relationship between high yield and late maturity was found in a test in 1956 involving 25 varieties.

In this test the average yield was 113 bushels per acre and the average time required to mature for all varieties was 106 days. Ten of the 25 varieties rendered better than average yields and all required more than 106 days to mature. Eleven varieties which matured in less than 106 days gave yields below the 113 bushel average. Four of the varieties under test ripened in 106 days and of these three yielded more and one yielded less than the average.

Other tests have given similar results. Yield differences between the very early and very late selections have been for the most part, very marked.

In spite of this apparent relationship between early maturity and low yields, there is justification for utilizing early maturing varieties on many farms. For instance, they may be used to advantage in weed control programmes where delayed seeding is practised. The farmer who operates a large acreage may find it advantageous to use both an early and a late maturing variety in order to lengthen the seeding and harvesting period thereby reducing crop hazard risk. In many localities, because of a comparatively short growing season, varieties other than the very early maturing sorts should not be considered. Also when a nurse crop is used in seeding down to grasses and clovers, an early maturing variety may be an advantage.

Although the existing early maturing varieties tend to yield less than the later ones, it is the hope of plant breeders that with more emphasis on early maturity, they will be able to combine earliness and a better yield potential in varieties for future use.

CONFINEMENT VERSUS RANGE REARING IN EGG PRODUCTION

Rearing replacement pullets in confinement is now a common practice among poultrymen. Recent work at the Experimental Farm shows that this is a sound procedure. In this experiment pullets reared in confinement produced more eggs on less feed per dozen eggs than pullets reared on grass range.

In a laying trial covering a period of fourteen months 360 in-cross hybrid hens reared in confinement were compared with 360 hens from the same hatch reared on grass range. Average egg production of the birds reared in confinement was 65 per cent compared with 62 per cent for birds reared on range. The birds reared in confinement also required less feed per dozen eggs—4.8 pounds as compared with 5.1 pounds. Egg size apparently was not affected by the methods of rearing and mortality was much lower for the confinement reared birds during the laying period.

It would appear from this experiment that in areas where range is at a premium, confinement rearing of pullets is not only practical but may also be advantageous.

The experiment will be concluded at the end of two laying periods (approximately 23 months) to assess the full effect of these two rearing methods.

WHITE GRUB DAMAGE SEVERE

Damage to grain crops in 1957 caused by white grubs occurred over a wide area of Ontario, typically in the guise of reduced yields. It appeared in the form of stunted or dwarf plants only where very severe. The aggregate crop loss with root crops was not great in most cases, but damage to the potato crop was important in some areas. Instances of almost complete failure were observed in Hastings and adjoining Counties. Strawberry plants were damaged to an exceptional extent where planted in sod of 1956 without insecticide protection. The general run of garden seedlings and garden crops were not seriously damaged.

The principal damage in Ontario and Quebec occurred to pasture sod but all types of permanent turf suffered extensive damage, especially in sandy or sandy loam soils. The aggregate loss of all susceptible crops was near a record figure in 1956. Little damage is expected in 1958 because the grubs will remain in the subsoil where they transform into the adult stage. The beetles will be on the wing in 1959 to start the next white grub cycle.

BANKERS WILL ATTEND SCHOOLS IN AGRICULTURE

The Department of Economics at the Ontario Agricultural College is organizing six regional schools in agriculture for Bankers in the Province. They will be held on the following dates: Ridgeway, January 15th; London, January 22nd; Walkerton, January 29th; Guelph, February 5th; Peterborough, February 12th; and Kemptonville, February 19th.

These schools are the result of several years of co-operation between the O.A.C. Department of Agricultural Economics and the Bankers throughout the province who lend money to the farmers.

For twelve years the College has maintained a record keeping extension service among farmers in Ontario. At present the farm management service includes some 600 farmers in 32 counties. It is felt that the dovetailing of this farm management activity with these Agricultural schools for those who lend money to the farmers, will be one of the soundest methods of establishing a wise policy in the use of natural resources.

LIST AVAILABLE OF CERTIFIED SEED POTATO GROWERS

The names and addresses of Ontario potato growers whose crops have met the official standards for Foundation and Certified seed in 1957 may be obtained from offices of Agricultural Representatives, from the Field Crops Branch, Toronto, or from seed inspectors in Guelph, Barrie, Ottawa, London and Winnipeg, Manitoba, the Field Crops Branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture reports.

The list includes a large number of growers located in the LaFontaine Seed Potato Restricted Area in North Simcoe County. While the principal varieties available in quantity are Sebago, Katadhin, Keswick, Chippewa, Irish Cobbler and Green Mountain. There are limited supplies of Warba, Kennebec, Canus, Rural Russet, Nettle Gem, Canus and the new scab-resistant Huron variety licensed and grown commercially for the first time in 1957.

GARRY AND RODNEY OATS INCREASE FARM REVENUE

Almost invariably either Garry or Rodney oats will yield ten bushels per acre more than any other standard variety, reports the Field Crops Branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture. Such increased yields result throughout all Ontario and under all soil and weather conditions. With 1,700,000 acres of oats grown in Ontario in 1957, it can readily be seen that if everyone grew either Garry or Rodney, the yield would be increased by more than 10,000,000 bushels.

In 1956 the average yield of oats per acre was 42.5 bushels and in 1957 it had increased to 49.5 bushels per acre. While some of this increase may have been due to the better growing season in 1957, a goodly portion of it must be credited to the superior yield ability of these two varieties, states A. H. Martin, Director of the Branch.

Characteristics of these two varieties are that the Garry is a medium tall, medium early, strong-strawed variety which is resistant to crown rust, while Rodney is medium tall, medium late, resistant to both crown and stem rust and inclined to have plumper kernels than Garry but, on the other hand, is several days later in maturing. Both varieties are highly recommended in Ontario and because of their superior yield ability, no farmer should be without an acreage of one or the other.

Both these varieties originated in the Dominion Rust Laboratory, Winnipeg. New York State claims introduction of Garry oats has increased production in that State by five bushels per acre.

York County farmers purchased eleven cars of Rodney and two of Garry seen in 1956. These thirteen cars, costing approximately $52,000.00 brought $250,000.00 extra revenue to the group, due to increased yield.

NEW IDEA IN SHOWING CATTLE

Members of the Hastings County Holstein Club have come up with an idea which may help livestock breeders to solve one of their most vexing problems. The club proposes to hire competent Junior Farmers to take care of the cattle shown at Belleville Fair next summer. This fair is the club's official Black and White Show.

It is a necessary part of a successful pure bred breeder's operation to advertise the quality of his herd by showing at the fairs. However, these come at a busy time of year and with the growing scarcity of farm labour, it is becoming increasingly more difficult for farmers to exhibit their cattle. Perhaps the action of the Hastings group points the way to at least a partial solution to this problem.

GOOD ENTRY LIST FOR BEEF BULL SALE

W. P. Watson, Ontario Live Stock Commissioner and Secretary of the Ontario Beef Cattle Improvement Association, said recently that some 231 animals have been entered in this year's annual sale of Beef Bulls which will be held on March 5th and 6th in the Royal Winter Fair Buildings, Toronto.

Shorthorns lead in numbers with 106 being entered for sale. Herefords are second with 103 being offered and Aberdeen Angus third with 22 up for disposal.

Last year Ontario's Bull Premium Policy was changed to provide a higher bonus for performance tested bulls approved from the standpoint of appearance only. In order to qualify for the designation "performance tested" a bull must be tested under the Advanced Registry Policy for Beef Cattle and during the test must gain at a rate of 2.30 pounds per day or better. In addition he must be approved from the standpoint of type and conformation at the conclusion of the test.

This year there are 14 performance tested bulls in the offering, including a bull that gained 3.28 pounds per day, the highest for any bull to date.

All bulls entered must be inspected by a culling committee on the evening previous to the day on which they are scheduled to be sold and only those that are approved will be permitted to pass through the auctions. Incidentally the sale of Herefords and Aberdeen Angus will be held on Wednesday, March 5th and of Shorthorns on Thursday, March 6th.

Every Ontario purchaser will be eligible for a premium in accordance with the terms and conditions of the Ontario Bull Premium Policy.

Criticism of Court House Termed Unjust

Defence of the county's position in what was termed unjust criticism of the condition of the Hastings county courtroom, saw some rather heated discussions last week by the county council.

A recent report of the grand jury called for many renovations and furnishings for the court house building.

County council in reply listed in detail renovations and repairs done on the court house in recent years. This covered complete renovations of the county judge's office, renovations in the magistrate's office, sheriff's office and in the office of the crown attorney.

In addition the main courtroom had been repainted as well as the law library, while a second and more roomy courtroom had been provided for county magistrate's court.

Other capital expenditures had included nearly $20,000 for a new furnace; $8,000 for rewiring of the court house, roof repairs and floor repairs.

Since the Christmas holiday renovation of the barrister's room had been underway, this to be provided with washroom facilities.

Criticism Unjust

In the light of these many costly renovations which had been undertaken, councillors felt much of the criticism the county had received was unjustified. It was noted also that while the city of Belleville and the town of Trenton share in the costs of administration of justice there had been no request from these urban municipalities for better courtroom facilities.

Council particularly were resentful of the report submitted last December by the local Bar Association. They felt however that the criticism emanated from only a small section of the Law Association and did not represent the feeling of the entire association.

Commenting on the grand jury report, Warden Lloyd Price maintained that county council had done its best to comply with the requests for improvements and assured it would continue to do so.

THE FOOD BASKET

EVERYTHING FROM EGGS TO APPLES

Instead of saying "Everything from soup to nuts," an expression used today to imply abundance, the Romans used to say, "Everything from eggs to apples." We certainly could say it their way for this is one of the months when eggs and apples are two of our most abundant foods. Both are of excellent quality, too, and the flavours combine so well that now is a good time to use eggs and apples together in desserts like these suggested by the Consumer Section:

Apple Custard

Follow your own recipe for baked custard. Place drained, cooked and sweetened apple wedges in the bottom of custard cups before pouring in the custard mixture. Bake as usual.

Fairy Apple Tarts

Beat 2 egg yolks, add 1 cup sugar and 2 cups applesauce. Cook in a double boiler until thickened. Add 1 teaspoon almond extract. Fill into tart shells. Cover with meringue made from 2 egg whites and 4 table-spoons sugar and brown in moderate oven, 350 degs. F.

For Valentines' Day make heart-shaped tart shells, and garnish each tart with a red candy heart.

Apple Meringue Topping

For Gingerbread

Add a few grains of salt to 2 egg whites and beat until rounded peaks form. Gradually beat in 1-3 cup of sugar, until meringue is stiff and glossy. Using fine shredder, make 1 1/2 cups shredded apple (peeled or unpeeled) and mix immediately with 2 teaspoons lemon juice to prevent apple from browning. Fold apple mixture into meringue and serve at once on hot or cold gingerbread. Yield: 3 1/2 cups.

For additional recipes write for the booklets "Apples" and "Eggs" available from: Information Service, Canada Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, Ontario.

A Letter To The Editor

Dear Mr. Editor:

From time to time I receive as Reeve of your Village, appeals from various organizations to back or approve their appeal for funds. Recently I received one from the Canadian Foundation for Polio-myelitis. This foundation helps all types of crippled people as well as polio victims. There are 236,000 disabled persons in Canada — approximately one-third of these are in Ontario.

This Foundation will be making an appeal to citizens for funds in the very near future. I heartily endorse this appeal for funds and wish them the very best in their worthwhile work of rehabilitation of crippled persons.

Yours very truly,
J. V. HOLT,

Reeve of Stirling

St. John's J.A. Plan Special Project

The Junior Auxiliary of St. John's Anglican Church, Stirling, under the leadership of Mrs. Fred Trow is planning an afternoon tea as a special project for this year to make a gift of both money and prayers to the Fukujen Orphanage in Sapporo, Japan.

Last year at the Dominion Annual Meeting in Halifax, N.S. delegates had the privilege of hearing Canon A. H. Davis, who had just returned from Japan speak of this Orphanage which had just been established by Mr. Kinichi Yonezawa and of the very wonderful work being done there by this sincere Japanese Christian.

The following is a letter received by Miss Eleanor Rice, Dominion Supervisor of Children's Work in reply to one she wrote to the Rev. Beverly D. Tucker, a Protestant Episcopal Clergyman who is serving in Sapporo, saying that the Junior Auxiliary girls wanted to help:

"Dear Miss Rice:
My name is Mr. Yonezawa and I am head of the children's home called Fukujen Orphanage. About eight o'clock in the evening Rev. Tucker came all the way to my home to bring me a good news that is to show me your letter and Rev. Davis'.

"I was in bed catching bad cold. I left my bed and welcome him. Beside the fireplace he translated letters to me. Miss Rice! I was so very much touched. I do not easily shed my tears for anything, but I did wept. We live almost opposite side of the earth, notwithstanding the fact shows that one of the poor facility for unfortunate children in Sapporo was remembered by a lady who lives in Canada and promised to remember in her prayer. I thank God and his mysterious work to have a friend like you who will assist me and my humble work.

"Rev. Tucker who just left here by morning bus is an American of course, nevertheless he leads his daily life just like we do. We have very low standard living in Japan comparison with American and Canada. He eats the same low calory food like we do and sleeps not on the bed but tatami. We respect him. He is certainly a good man.

"This facility accommodates 57 persons, 11 staffers are taking care of these children. How could I continue this kind of work without my wife's faithfulness. She graduated from Ryujou Nursery School. Pre-Principal Miss Bowman visited my wife the other day and is now back to America to spend the rest of her life. She also remembers my work in her prayers. We are very much encouraged by those people.

"I have to show the Glory of God among people. I have to give a right answer to Him for I was given love and grace.

"I will write you soon once again. Please pray for me to give me power and wisdom to accomplish my work. May God bless you."

Sincerely,

Kinichi Yonezawa

STIRLING CENTENNIAL, AUG. 3rd to 6th, 1958

DO YOU KNOW THAT...

The Municipal history of the Village of Stirling has been carefully preserved? Some individuals have very enviable records and it is worthy of special note to recall with pride many years of service rendered to the community.

Edward Fidler, who played an important part in the original organization of the Village, served as the first Warden of Hastings County. He was one of the largest land owners in the middle of the 19th century. It is indeed a tribute to him and an honour to us that Stirling should have had this experience to record.

Another record of the Village is found in the fact that George Luery held the office of Village Clerk for 36 consecutive years, serving 8 Reeves during this term.

The following is a list of the Chief Magistrates of the Village since the time of its incorporation:

The Centennial Book Committee plan to record the former Reeves and Clerks, complete with dates and years of service in the book which they are compiling. Place your order now!

slisters, Mrs. Florence Gordanier, of Stirling, Mrs. Helena Wickett, of Saskatoon, Sask., and two brothers, Alex Rodgers, of Stirling, and Reginald Rodgers, of Broton, Minn.

The funeral was held at the Duffin Funeral Home, Stirling, at two o'clock today, with Rev. A. E. Baker, of Toronto, conducting the service.

The pallbearers were Messrs. Frank Percival, Vernon Matthews, George Sables, Bruce Demorest, Percy Craighead and Oliver Stapley.

Rural Mail Delivery

During the winter months all Rural Mail Couriers would greatly appreciate the observance of the following official regulations:

"Roads must be kept open and in good condition for travel at all seasons of the year for the effective performance of the mail service. Likewise, streams, gullies and ditches must be bridged where necessary. While this is primarily the duty of the municipality, nevertheless the boxholders must see that it is done. Failure to maintain roads in proper condition will be considered sufficient reason for withdrawing service. It is not the duty of mail couriers to break roads after storms."

Keep approach to boxes level and clear of snow or other obstruction at all times to enable the courier to cover his route without unnecessary delay or inconvenience. This duty is the responsibility of the boxholder.

Past Noble Grands' Club

The Past Noble Grands' Club met at the home of Sis. Isobel Good on January 15th at 8.00 p.m.

The Vice-President, Sis. Barlow, opened the meeting with the members repeating the opening verse and the Lord's Prayer in unison. Roll call showed 19 members present and a special welcome was extended to six visitors. Plans and ideas were discussed for a card party. It was also mentioned that the Sisters of the Club bring their pasteboard plates to the next meeting which will be held at the home of Sis. Marion Wells on February 20th at 8.00 p.m. with Sisters Edna Fox and Hazel Mumby as programme convenors.

After closing the business portion with the theme song, Sis. Mildred Morrow took charge of the program. A contest, "Confession by Proxy," was conducted by Sis. G. Elliott. Sis. Evelyn Bailey gave a reading, "He's Got Something There." All the members participated in the games conducted by Sis. Morrow.

The hostess served a delicious lunch, after which Sis. Edna Fox very capably thanked Sis. Good for her hospitality.

Rabid Dog Destroyed In Campbellford
